★ Remember, you are special! There has been only one "you" since the beginning of time.

★ The world is more colorful because we are all different. We should respect the special qualities (品质) of friends, family members and strangers.

★ Even though we are all different, we have things in common too!

Our Suggestions

DO WHAT YOU LOVE!

Show your talents!

It's important to let others know your talents. That makes you special.

Get creative!

No one else can make things exactly like you. Everything you create has your own "fingerprint" (指纹; 特点) on it.

Dress to express!

What clothes would you like to wear if you had the choice? What color would you put on together? You don't have to follow others!

Keep a diary!

Draw,write and stick in pictures to express yourself!

If you are looking for somewhere special to visit in London, we may have the answer for you: Sir John Soane's Museum. The museum is one of London's best-kept secrets, and it's well worth a visit. Sir John, a great architect (建筑师), lived in London during the 18th century (1753—1837), and the amazing thing is that his house is exactly the same as he left it. In fact, visiting the house is just like stepping back in time.

There are three floors which are open to the public. You can start on the first floor. This was Sir John's work area. You can ask the guards about the paintings on the walls as they tell you something about his family and life. And don't worry about the guards as they are really nice and helpful. Next, you can go downstairs to the ground floor. Here you can see his rich collection of paintings. For example, there is a series (系列) of interesting paintings about 18th century life in London. Now comes the last part, the underground floor. It's full of thousands of valuable objects, such as sculptures (雕塑) and models of famous buildings from all over the world. Walking around this part of the house is a bit like being on a treasure hunt, as you can find things hidden away in secret corners. Anyway, you'll have to go there yourself to see.

Sir John Soane's Museum is a very small place. It's only about ten minutes' walk from the British Museum. There is a free hour-long guided tour every Saturday at 2:30 pm, but the best thing is just to walk about by yourself. So now you know where to go next time you're in London. We guarantee that it's an experience you won't forget!

23. Why is Sir John Soane's Museum special according to Paragraph 1?

- A. It is the oldest museum in London.
- B. There is a time machine in it.
- C. It is kept the same as Sir John left it.
- D. There are lots of secret boxes in it.

24. In which order does the writer advise people to visit the museum?

- ① the underground floor ② the ground floor ③ the first floor
- A. ①②③
 - B. ②①③
 - C. ①③②
 - D. ③②①

25. What can be seen on the ground floor of the museum?

- A. A series of interesting paintings.
- B. Pictures of Sir John and his family.
- C. A valuable collection of sculptures.

D.Models of famous buildings in the world.

26.What does the underlined word“guarantee”in the last paragraph probably mean?

A.hear B.decide C.promise D.remember

Do you get in trouble for feeding your dog on food from dinner under the table?Anew study suggests that by sharing“people food”, you might actually be helping to keep your pet healthy.

Many dogs are fed dry processed food.Science has shown that a diet (饮食) of processed food is not healthy for humans.Scientists from the University of Helsinki,in Fin-land,say this diet is not good for our pet dogs,either.

The scientists discovered that the food a dog might find in an owner's home such as eggs,fish,meat and vegetables may be better than a diet of just dog food.This is be-cause having different kinds of food leads to more variety (多样性) in microbes,which are little living things,too small to be seen with our eyes.There are millions of them in human and animal bodies.Some are bad for us,but many are good for us,and they play important roles in helping us digest (消化) food.

A total of 8,500 young pet dogs took part in the study.4,500 of them were under 6months old,and the rest were between 6 and 18 months old.The owners were asked about what food they had fed their pets and how often.When the dogs reached adult-hood,their owners reported that about 20%of the dogs showed CE symptoms (慢性肠胃不适症状) such as weight loss.However,if dogs had been fed a mixed diet while young,it was 22%less possible for them to experience CE symptoms later in life.

Dr.Anna Hielm-Bjorkman told The Times of London,“Dog food on sale are described as providing a complete diet...But what we show is that variety is important.No-body would give 12 years of the same food to a child—why should a dog be different?”

27.According to the new study,dog owners

A.must offer dry food to their dogs
B.can feed dogs on“people food”
C.had better buy more processed food
D.shouldn't make food by themselves

28.Paragraph 3 mainly explains why

- A.dogs need different kinds of food
- B.little living things stay in human bodies
- C.scientists study dry processed food

People in the UK Say Sorry for Many Uses

31 If a person burps（打嗝）at the dinner table or runs into someone,you'll probably hear“Oops,I'm so sorry!”

32 US scientist Robert Trivers gave a possible answer in his studies.He said that we are polite because we need to belong and be included in society to live.So we be have well,help each other and say sorry,hoping that we can be treated well and be safe.

In the UK,politeness could be,as the Great British Mag put it,“a throwback（符合旧时代的事物）to the British class system.” 33

Does this mean that when British people say sorry,they don't mean it? 34 But saying sorry has its uses.If you're ever in the UK,remember a little“sorry”can go a long way.

A.Perhaps it does sometimes.

B.We say sorry to show people of a higher class,or level,respect,and to stay out of trouble.

- C. But why do we say sorry so much?
D. I wonder when people in the UK say sorry.
E. We can't help saying sorry in the UK.

35. What does the writer mean by concluding "If you're ever in the UK, remember a little sorry' can go a long way." (answer with no more than 15 words.)

A dog found some meat.He got it and ran away as 51 as he could.On his way home,he had to go 52 a small river.Just as he was going over,he looked down.In the river,he saw a dog with 53 meat.

“I must have that meat,too,”he said.“I 54 it from that dog.”As he opened his 55,his own piece fell,and was lost in the water.

B.阅读下面短文，根据括号内所给汉语注释写出单词的正确形式（每空一词）。

Most parents agree that children should eat healthy food.But how can they 56（鼓励） their kids to eat healthily?Our research suggests it should begin by getting parents to do the same.

We often see parents choose healthy food like 57（牛奶） and eggs for their kids.As for themselves,they would prepare something unhealthy.Why?They are not 58（确定） whether their kids would like to eat the healthy food.So,their own dishes can be a 59（第二；另一） choice for their children.If kids eat from their parents' dishes,both of them may have unhealthy diets.

Luckily,we found a 60 (简单) way:asking parents to think of their meals as their own,rather than as a choice for their children.

To do the research,we worked with a school.The school 61 (计划) to help children eat more healthily.It provided a free 62 (晚餐) for 100 families.We noticed all the parents 63 (仔细地) chose a healthy meal for their children.Then before choosing for themselves,we asked 64 (一半) of them to think of their meal as“for you and only you!”The others were not asked to do that.

The 65 (结果) ?Many more parents from the first group chose healthy food for themselves!

第三节语法填空 (共 10 小题, 每小题 1 分, 满分 10 分)

阅读下面短文, 在空白处填入一个适当的词, 或填入括号中所给单词的正确形式。

Martin is a boy full of questions.He asks questions all day long and 66 (hope)to get the answers at once.

One morning,he looked up at the sky 67 asked,“What makes the day?What makes the night?And how?”

“The earth travels around the sun.It turns to face the sun to make the day and turns away from the sun to make the night,”said 68 (he)father.“Now please,will you go and play?”

But the boy didn't want 69 (play).He looked up,down,and all around,and said,“I can't feel the earth turning.Why?”

“The earth is so big.We're too small to feel it turn.”Dad replied in a much 70 (loud)voice.“Now please,will you go and play 71 a moment?”

Martin tried.He played with some 72 (toy),and then studied the pictures of the sun and the earth,but questions were still everywhere!

At bedtime,while his mother 73 (tell)him a story,Martin couldn't help asking,“74 can see the sun now?”

“People on the other side of the earth,”Mom answered gently.“Hmm,”she thought,“maybe he will become 75 great scientist in the future.”

Martin lay in his bed and kept on thinking about the sun,the earth,the moon and the stars.
