Aimed at relieving students' mental stress and helping solve some problems we are faced with, our Teenagers Help Center has been set up recently.

Generally, there will be a sharing session, various interpersonal activities and some interesting games, which can help us know each other better, improve our relationship with others and refresh ourselves. Meanwhile, we can gradually find a way to maintain the balance between our study and our life. These activities and games are scheduled for Friday from 4 p.m. on the second floor of the Student Center.

If you have any interest in this center, don't hesitate to join it. You won't be disappointed!

作文 2

The next day, Alan went out to get the mail as usual and found a box. He opened the box gingerly and looked inside. To his surprise, there was a new kite—a cute robin with beautiful feathers along with a note written on the National Grid's notepaper. "I felt bad for your daughter, so I hope this new kite will make her smile," it read. "Stay safe and healthy!" The note was unsigned, but Alan was convinced that the lovable gift was from the worker who came to help yesterday. He took the kite inside and gave it to Abbey. When she saw the kite, her eyes gleamed with excitement.

Deeply moved by this act of kindness, Alan posted the whole story on the Internet. Soon, word got back to National Grid, and the company quickly identified Mike as the worker. When interviewed about it, he explained that as he saw Abbey burying a kite, he knew exactly how the girl felt, which pushed him to do something for her. After leaving the Greens' house, he stopped by a shop to buy the new kite and then laid the box quietly at their door. He didn't expect to be recognized, but Alan's post led to his identity being revealed, which resulted in the story being shared and liked by millions of people across the Internet.
