四、范文

One possible version:

第 3 页 (共 6 页)

We had talked to about two dozen people who all said no. My partners were ready to give up, but I said optimistically, "Somebody is bound to say yes." Sure enough, the perfect van drove up. It was perfect because it was extra big and would accommodate all of us. We went up, knocked on the window and asked the driver, "Could you take us to a disadvantaged area to help the less fortunate? We'll pay you 100 dollars." The driver said, "You don't have to pay me. I'd be delighted to take you anywhere."

We climbed into the perfect van with great joy. The driver said, "I'm curious why you people want to do this. May I ask why?" I told him my story and that I wanted to show gratitude by providing something back. Upon arrival, we entered a store where we packed enough supplies for seven families for 30 days. Then we went out to start feeding people. We even encountered a case where half a dozen people lived in one room. It was both an astonishing realization that people lived this way and a truly fulfilling experience to make even a small difference.

附：听力部分录音原文

Text 1

W: I just finished sending those e-mails, Mr. Conley. What else would you like me to do before I go to lunch?

M: That's all for right now, Miss Evers. But I'll need you to set up the conference room when you get back.

Text 2

W: Do you think the living room needs new wallpaper? I don't like this grey color. It's too ugly.

M: You could brighten it up a little. What color are you thinking of?

W: Maybe yellow or orange. I also want to buy some new furniture, and this carpet has got to go.

Text 3

M: I'm sorry I'm so late! There was a traffic jam just outside the city because a bunch of cows were crossing the highway.

W: Yeah, right. You missed a really important meeting! This cannot happen again, Brad.

Text 4

M: Do you think you can water my plants twice a week while I'm away on a business trip? I'll be gone for four weeks.

W: Sure. Just leave me a key under the mat and I'll let myself in and out.

Text 5

M: Thanks for coming to my birthday party. I love the present you got me.

W: My pleasure! I'm meeting up with a friend for dinner, so I have to go. We're still on for the new Superman film tomorrow, right?

M: Yep. It starts at seven.

Text 6

M: This seems to be a nice place. We don't have to wait in line.

W: No. It's early. There aren't many people at this hour.

M: Let's go over there and get a knife, fork, and spoons.

W: What shall we have?

M: Let's have a look at the menu over there.

第 4 页 (共 6 页)

W: I'll have a steak.

M: I'll have fried eggs. It's forty cents. That isn't very expensive.

W: In a cafeteria you serve yourself, so the price is more reasonable.

M: This is really a very good idea.

Text 7

M: Excuse me, Jessica. May I ask you something?

W: Sure, what's up?

M: I have trouble remembering new words. I tried to learn 34 words by heart one day, but I could only remember a few of them the next day. I don't know if I am smart enough to learn a foreign language.

W: Don't worry. Everyone forgets things. The only way to remember new words is to review them before you totally forget them. Revision is an important part of learning a language.

Text 8

M: Welcome to our General Knowledge Quiz Show. We've got some interesting questions for you tonight. Mary, are you ready?

W: Yes.

M: OK. Number 1: When was the toothbrush invented? Was it the 15th or the 17th century?

W: The 15th century, I think—in China.

M: That's right. Number 2: Where were compact discs developed?

W: In Japan.

M: OK. Number 3: In which century were glasses first made?

W: I'm not sure. The 15th century?

M: No, I'm sorry. It was in the 13th century by two Italians. And your last question: Where was the first petrol car built?

W: In Germany by Mr. Daintier and Mr. Benz.

M: That's right. Congratulations, Mary. You did very well.

Text 9

M: Grange Real Estate. May I help you?

W: Hi, I'm calling about the apartment you have for rent.

M: Yes. It's a two-bedroom apartment close to the university and the rent is nine hundred and fifty dollars.

W: Um, what I need to ask first is: Are pets OK?

M: Well, we don't allow dogs, but if you have a cat, that's fine.

W: Great. I do have a cat. So you said the rent is eight hundred and fifty per month?

M: It's nine hundred and fifty and the rent is due on the first of the month.

W: Oh, I can't believe I almost forgot the most important question. Is it quiet? I work nights. I need it quiet so I can get my sleep during the day.

M: Oh, yes. The building is in a very quiet location.

W: That's fine. When can I move in? I start my new job on the fifth of May and I'd like some time to settle into my new apartment first.

M: You can move in this Tuesday, May the 1st.

W: That's perfect.

M: Why don't you come by the office on Monday, April the thirtieth? We'll take care of the paperwork.

Text 10

W: Hi, everyone! I'd like to talk about healthy diets in this period. First of all, why should we eat healthily? Eating a healthy diet is important for long-lasting energy and illness prevention. Learning how to eat healthier diets and what it really means to do so will help you lose weight and feel good. It also helps you realize that no matter how busy your life is, you can take the time to have good meals and snacks throughout the day.

The importance of a healthy diet used to be just about having enough food to eat. In earlier times, this usually meant growing your own food and raising pigs, sheep or cows to feed your family. There were no such things as artificial colorings or flavorings or even so much worry about the different types of fats and what sugar calories can do to your weight.

The main problem with many diets today is that they are based on cutting out whole food groups to lose weight. It is true, for example, that if you cut your body off from carbs like potatoes and rice, you may lose pounds quicker, but you are not really eating healthily. By cutting out certain aspects of food, you are not giving your body what it needs to stay well. Eating right, having a balanced diet instead of eating the same things all the time is still the best way to lose weight safely without any bad side effects to your body. Dieting is merely eating less and sometimes not getting the nutrients you need to stay in good health.
