W: This two-seat boat costs $10 an hour. That big one is for four people, and it costs $15 an hour.

M: OK. It'll just be the two of us.

Text 2

M: Look out of the window. It's windy and cloudy outside. It looks a little scary. Did you see the weather forecast today?

W: Yes, it said there would be heavy rain this afternoon.

Text 3

M: Judy, do you want to see a movie? Oh, you look upset. What's the matter?

W: My paper is giving me a terrible headache. It's due next Monday.

M: Oh, I handed mine in last week.

Text 4

W: Excuse me. May I have the bill, please?

M: OK. It's 120 yuan in total.

W: All right. Can you give me two doggy bags? I want to pack the leftovers.

M: Sure, no problem. Here you are.

Text 5

M: Let's meet at 7:30 p.m. outside the cinema.

W: I think we should go there earlier.

M: There are some advertisements before the movie starts, so 7:30 p.m. is a good time.

Text 6

M: Hey, Lisa, how was your weekend?

W: Well, pretty busy. On Saturday morning, I went to the gym to exercise. Then I went to do a part-time job in the afternoon. And I cleaned and shopped with my mother in the evening.

M: So what did you do on Sunday?

W: Well, Mr. Brown. He is an extremely creative math teacher.

W: I used to hate math so much before I had Mr. Brown's lessons. Now I find math quite attractive.

M: There is a $30 extra fee for late checkout.

W: Do you think you could give me a break? I had an awful night yesterday.

M: What happened, Ms. Lee?

W: I just lay in bed, almost sleepless until 6 a.m..

M: I'm sorry to hear that.

W: So I was wondering if I could check out a little later.

M: I think I can make an exception this time. Do you think you will be able to check out by 2:00 p.m.?

W: No problem. Thank you very much.

Text 9

W: Good morning. Welcome to Standard Chartered Bank. How can I help you, sir?

M: I want to open a bank account.

W: Sure thing. What kind of account would you like to open, a checking account or a savings account?

M: What's the difference?

W: A checking account is designed for daily transactions. The money in the savings account is meant to stay in the account.

M: Actually, I plan to apply for a credit card. I'm going to travel abroad with my wife next month. That's why I need an account.

W: Well, you need to fill out the application form first. How much of a credit limit are you looking for?

M: I would like a $5,000 spending limit.

W: OK, we will get you one of our gold cards with a $5,000 spending limit.

M: Thank you. That is twice the amount of my last card. Is there anything else?

W: You just need to deposit a minimum of $250 into your new checking amount.

M: OK, I will do it now.

W: Now your account is opened and your credit card will be mailed to your address within 5 business days.

M: Thank you for your help.

Text 10

Good morning, class. We're all aware that we should take action to protect the environment, such as saving water, reducing pollution and planting more trees. There are some "green truths". Are they all true? Let's see.

Firstly, paper shopping bags are better than plastic ones. Is it true? Actually, making a paper bag uses four times as much energy as making a plastic one and produces more greenhouse gases. So a reusable bag is the best choice.

Secondly, when you turn off a device, it stops using power. Really? If you turn off the television or air conditioner, it goes into the standby mode. Devices in this mode still use power. So to make sure your appliance is in fact off, you should remove the plug from its power supply.

Thirdly, it's better to take a shower than a bath. True or not? In fact, it depends on how long you spend in the shower and how large your bath is. If you spend more than 8 minutes in a shower, you'll use as much as water in a bath — about 50 liters of water. So the key is to keep your shower times as short as possible.

I hope all of you can pay attention to the things mentioned above in your daily life.

第二节

One possible version:

So Dan decided to do something for James. Surprisingly, Dan even bought James an apartment. When James moved into the apartment, Dan surprised him with a housewarming party and invited everyone who had grown to know James over the years. The home is completely accessible as the floors flow throughout, so James can use his skateboard to get about. James is now settling into his new home and knows he has a lot to thank his friend for.

One never knows what simple act will make a difference to others. It's hard to say where James would be now had he not accepted that fateful offer of a ride that day. What we can learn from this is that every choice matters, no matter how small a choice it may seem at the time. Therefore, next time you see some homeless men, you can play a role by reaching out to help them.
