1.C

【原文】W: I hear the manager is sick. Do you think the meeting will be put off?

M:I hope so. I haven't finished my report yet.

2.B

[原文]M: Excuse me. Does this bus go to the History Museum?

W:Yes.You can get off at the Donghu Park and walk straight until you see the City Library. The museum is just opposite the library.

3.A

【原文】W: How will you go to Shanghai?

M:I prefer to take the train to save money. What about you?

W:By car. We needn't bother to carry luggage.

4.A

【原文】M: What are you learning in English class right now?

W:Well,we have to learn the meanings of ten words each week. And we're going to read a Shakespeare's play for the next six weeks.

M:Oh,we learn five more words than you.

5.B

【原文】 W: Kris, did you hear that Gemma Hudson is leaving?

M: Really? Where did you hear that?

W: She told me that she's leaving next month.

M: I have to say I'm not surprised. I didn't think she was very happy working here.

6.A 7.C

【原文】 M: Your guitar playing sounds beautiful. You must have played for a long time.

W: Actually, I've only taken guitar lessons for a year. I played the piano since I was five years old until last year when I turned sixteen. But I always wanted a guitar, and I finally got one for my birthday. I've played every day since then!

M: That's great! I always wanted to have a guitar, but I never did. Neither of my parents plays music. So they didn't think of getting me a musical instrument. I played a lot of sports instead.

8.A 9.B

【原文】 W: Hey, Paul. I hear that you'll take the plane at 2 p.m. to attend the exhibition in New York.

M: Yeah.

W: Well, I'm going to visit a customer there today and we will be on the same flight. Would you like to share a taxi to the airport?

M: I'm afraid I can't. I have to take this report to Mr. Smith at the home office before his meeting at 10 am, so I was thinking about going to the airport straight from there. If you'd like, I could meet you at the airport.

W: In that case, how about meeting at 12:00 to have lunch together before our flight?

M: That sounds like a plan. I'll see you in the coffee shop at noon, OK?

W: OK. See you then.

10.C 11.B 12.B

【原文】 W: What are you going to do on Friday night?

M: Oh, I'm going to have dinner with my mother and my sister.

W: Sounds lovely! Are you going to a restaurant?

M: No. My mother prefers cooking at home, so we're going to eat at her place.

W: Her place? You don't live with your mother anymore?

M: No. I moved out during my second year of college, and my sister left right after she graduated from high school.

W: OK. So how often do you all meet up back at your mother's?

M: About once a month. But I was too busy with school last month, so I haven't seen my mother for two months.

W: What about your sister? Do you see her more often?

M: Not really. She's usually pretty busy at work, so we only see each other at my mother's.

13.B 14.A 15.C 16.C

【原文】 W: Good evening, David. I'm so glad to have you here.

M: It's my pleasure.

W: When did you start to volunteer?

M:When I retired in 2014,I found myself with more time to spare and I was looking for things to do. So I began volunteering the next year.

W:There are many ways we can occupy ourselves as we get older. We can start new hobbies; we can travel. Why did you choose to volunteer?

W:There are many ways we can occupy ourselves as we get older. We can start new hobbies; we can travel. Why did you choose to volunteer?

M: You know there's always someone out there that needs your help and seniors have valuable experience and knowledge that can be put to good use.

W:I can't agree more. Are there many seniors out there volunteering?

M:Absolutely. There were a large number of senior volunteers in the United States last year alone.

W:What volunteer activities do you participate in?

M:I used to offer food to the homeless at the Food Bank. But now I'm doing teaching in local schools.

W:What do you get from volunteering?

M:I gain a sense of purpose. It just feels good to be needed.

W:Thank you again, David.

M: You're welcome. And thank you for inviting me to the show.

W:Thank you, Ron. I'm Katie Gill here at the corner of Greenwood and Pine, where the heat of the fire can still be felt some 100 feet away. The fire is said to have started inside the local store and it has spread to the surrounding apartment buildings. As we speak, fire fighters and the police are helping those who could not make it outside without assistance. Though many seem to be safe, there is not much relief left to the people of Battery Park. According to the fire department, the fire began early last night after the bakery closed. There seems to be a problem with the water system in the area and it is stopping the fire prevention system from turning on. Many have come from local areas with food and water to help. As far as we know, no one has been injured yet by the fire because most people have known to leave the building hours ago, but as these lucky people stand outside of their burning homes, they do not feel calm. This will be an August that the people of Battery Park will not forget any time. Now back to you in the studio.
