第二节 (满分 25 分)

"That's it! I know how to open it!" said Ollie. "These are regular screws. We could remove the screws so that the hinge can be taken off from the trunk!" he exclaimed with a radiant smile. Just now, we were so focused on the lock that we didn't try to open the trunk another way. Then we asked Tex to jump off the trunk, and turned it upright. Ollie immediately took out a screwdriver from the tool kit. In two minutes flat, he opened the trunk with my assistance. (79 words)

Oh! There were only lots of shoes in the trunk! Ollie and I were pretty disappointed at the discovery, which wasn't diamonds or gold. Seeing our frustration, Mary patted us on the shoulder, saying, "These shoes are in such great shape that we can raise money by selling them at the rummage sale." Our faces lit up and a sense of achievement crept over us. We found "treasure" after all! Our persistence finally paid off! If at first you don't succeed, try, try again. (73 words)

W:Different countries have different waste management systems.One thing for sure: it's never too hard to throw your garbage in Indonesia.What Indonesians commonly do is put their garbage in their personal garbage area which are usually located in the front of their houses,right at the side of the street. In Germany,different kinds of garbage are put in different colored cans.For example, blue garbage cans are for paper and cardboard,and pizza boxes go to gray garbage cans.Green and white garbage cans are for glass.Yellow garbage cans are for plastic and metals.In Korea,you are expected to sort your waste and put it into the right bags. Each district in Korea has its own official garbage bags.The garbage bags could be bought at the local supermarket.Proper waste management isn't a hard thing to do, but it needs to be supported by your family members and your surroundings in order to gain benefits from it.
