M: Hello. International Friends Club. Can I help you?

W: Oh, hello. I read about your club in the paper today and I thought I'd phone to find out a bit more.

M: Yes, certainly. Well, we are a sort of social club for people from different countries. It's quite a new club—we have about 50 members at the moment, but we are growing all the time.

W: That sounds interesting. I'm British actually, and I came to Washington about three months ago. I'm looking for ways to meet people. Er, what kinds of events do you organize?

M: Well, we have social get-togethers, and sports events, and we also have language evenings.

W: Could you tell me something about the language evenings?

M: Yes. Every day except Thursday we have a language evening. People can come and practice their languages—you know, over a drink or something. We have different languages on different evenings. Monday—Spanish; Tuesday—Italian; Wednesday—German; and Friday—French. On Thursday we usually have a meal in a restaurant for anyone who wants to come.

W: Well, that sounds great. I really need to practice my French.

M: OK. Well, if you can just give me your name and address, I'll send you the form and some more information. If you join now, you can have the first month free.

W: They are excellent designers, too. The competition must have been fierce. Will the winner receive a lot of money?

W: It's right across from the Bellagio Department Store on Granville Avenue, on the left side of a bank. The hotel just opened a week ago. I've heard they provide excellent food and service. Are you going to attend the ceremony?

In Canada, all high school students have a chance to work with their parents. This summer, I took part in my mom's work. She works at the police station.

When I arrived, the officers were practicing basic skills. They were exercising very hard. I stood beside a call operator and watched him working. Suddenly, the phone rang. He picked it up and a woman cried for help. Several men entered her house and were stealing. The call operator told her, "Please calm down and move to a safe place quietly. Don't fight with them. Just let them take what they want. Make sure you don't hurt yourself. We are sending officers there." The operator followed the call and found her address. Then he sent five closest police cars to the woman's place.

The day was interesting. The officers were very friendly and admirable. And I learned how the police station worked.

As the restoration project progressed, the team also faced issues with donations of time and materials. Sarah, armed with her strong personality and passion for the project, took the lead and negotiated with local businesses to secure much-needed resources.

There were challenges along the way, but she never lost her determination. There was a time when it felt like this project would never be completed, but Sarah persevered. Inch by inch, the park was transformed. The old benches were replaced with new ones and new playground equipment was installed. After all their hard work, the park was once again a beautiful place, bringing joy to the community. Due to Sarah's persuasiveness and the enthusiasm of the community, the project proved to be highly successful.
