第一节

A Beautiful Campus

Last weekend, a class meeting “A Beautiful Campus” was held in our class, aiming to raise the students’ awareness of protecting the environment. The whole class had an active discussion about how to make it. Some advised forming a good habit of putting rubbish into the dustbin at any time; some thought it important to make a rule for those often littering at school while others reminded us to be polite to each other in life, refusing to speak in a rude way.

At the end of the meeting, the monitor called on everyone to make a contribution to our beautiful campus.

第二节

Susan’s daily calls continued, and so did my daily searches. I still didn’t dare to tell the truth on the phone about Molly’s disappearance, which also drew most attention of my daily life. Therefore, I was just not in the mood for preparing the gifts. The day before Christmas Susan returned, eager to see her baby cat. On the way home, she showed me the gifts for Molly as we drove home, while I silently considered how to break the news.

When approaching our home, Susan shouted happily. “You give me the best Christmas gift!” I was confused. Looking around, I saw Molly playing with other cats in our yard. Then I realized that Susan thought the group of cats along with Molly were the Christmas gift I had prepared for her. But now I still didn’t know when Molly came back. Anyway, it was lucky that I avoided the possible blame and gave Susan a Christmas gift at the last minute again.
