M: Hello. International Friends Club. Can I help you?

W: Oh, hello. I read about your club in the paper today and I thought I'd phone to find out a bit more.

M: Yes, certainly. Well, we are a sort of social club for people from different countries. It's quite a new club—we have about 50 members at the moment, but we are growing all the time.

W: That sounds interesting. I'm British actually, and I came to Washington about three months ago. I'm looking for ways to meet people. Er, what kinds of events do you organize?

M: Well, we have social get-togethers, and sports events, and we also have language evenings.

W: Could you tell me something about the language evenings?

M: Yes. Every day except Thursday we have a language evening. People can come and practice their languages—you know, over a drink or something. We have different languages on different evenings. Monday—Spanish; Tuesday—Italian; Wednesday—German; and Friday—French. On Thursday we usually have a meal in a restaurant for anyone who wants to come.

W: Well, that sounds great. I really need to practice my French.

M: OK. Well, if you can just give me your name and address, I'll send you the form and some more information. If you join now, you can have the first month free.

M: I prefer art and music.

W: Well, let me see. Now we are on the 2nd floor. You need to climb one more floor. There are a lot of music books, especially a collection of classical music composed by Beethoven, Mozart and Bach, which I think you must like.

M: Why is this watch special, Helen?

W: It's my grandfather's watch.

M: I want to hear the story about it.

W: He came to England more than fifty years ago and this is the watch he was wearing when he arrived here. When he came over here, he didn't have much—just a few pounds in his pocket. But this watch was a present to him from his grandfather, his twenty first birthday present, so it was really special to him and now it's special to me.

M: Is it very valuable? I mean, I know you don't want to sell it but is it worth a lot of money?

W: No, not at all. It doesn't even tell the right time! It's just an ordinary watch but it's special to me because it really reminds me of my grandfather.

M: Is your grandfather still alive?

W: No, he isn't. He died 2 years ago.

M: So he left the watch to you in his will.

W: Yes, it will stay with me all my life.

M: Hello, teachers and students! Now I have an important announcement to make. There are a few changes that have been made to the visit. So, please pay full attention to what I'm saying next. We still have been arranged to pay a visit to the local museum this weekend, but this time it's on Saturday not on Sunday. We are informed that the museum won't open this Sunday due to some special reasons. And we are going to meet on the playground instead of the school gate at eight o'clock tomorrow morning. We will go directly there by bus. You'd better wear comfortable shoes for long walks in the museum. Please bring a notebook with you and make some notes. We will have a discussion about it in the class meeting next Monday. Oh, I nearly forget to remind you of the rules. Don't take pictures of the cultural relics. But if you do want to take a picture, you can do that in front of the museum. And nobody is allowed to touch anything there, or else they will be fined. Have a nice weekend!

参考范文:

Dear James,

I'm delighted to tell you that I'll take part in a summer camp. However, there will be an interview next week, which makes me worried. I am wondering if you could tell me some interview skills. As you know, my spoken English is not good. It makes the communication difficult with native speakers. I think the question is that I am always flooded with a sense of nervousness when talking. So I'm extremely afraid to fail now. I hope to pass the interview successfully and there is an opportunity to make more friends and know about the local culture.

I'm looking forward to your early reply!

Yours,

Li Hua

参考范文:

Jaden changed his idea, thinking it was the most important to celebrate his son's birthday. So he made a call to delay his business and drove back home, which he wanted to be a surprise. Jaden was probably a few miles away from his home when his car broke down. "Oh, too bad!" he sighed. He jumped out and tried to find if someone could give him a lift, but no luck. He had to run all the way home because he didn't want to miss his son's birthday.

After running for fifteen minutes, Jaden was out of breath when he reached home. "Adam, I'm sorry I am late," he said very sadly as walking through the door. Adam stood there in astonishment, forgetting about what he was doing. Gradually, Adam came to realize what had happened, and he rushed to his father and hugged him tightly. With Adam's saying thanks to his father, thunderous applause rang through the hall. Just then Jaden understood what Adam needed most was his love and care. He decided to spend more time with Adam in the future.
