M: Hello. International Friends Club. Can I help you?

W: Oh, hello. I read about your club in the paper today and I thought I'd phone to find out a bit more.

M: Yes, certainly. Well, we are a sort of social club for people from different countries. It's quite a new club we have about 50 members at the moment, but we are growing all the time.

W: That sounds interesting. I'm British actually, and I came to Washington about three months ago. I'm looking for ways to meet people. Er, what kinds of events do you organize?

M: Well, we have social get-togethers, and sports events, and we also have language evenings.

W: Could you tell me something about the language evenings?

M: Yes. Every day except Thursday we have a language evening. People can come and practice their languages you know, over a drink or something. We have different languages on different evenings. Monday Spanish; Tuesday Italian; Wednesday German; and Friday French. On Thursday we usually have a meal in a restaurant for anyone who wants to come.

W: Well, that sounds great. I really need to practice my French.

M: OK. Well, if you can just give me your name and address, I'll send you the form and some more information. If you join now, you can have the first month free.

M: No. I changed my job about three months ago. I'm a member of the National Bank now. How about you?

W: I'm still teaching at the university. But I changed from the German Department to the Spanish Department.

W: Yes, Dr Downs said he expected us to have the first five on the list. He is going to discuss them in detail.

M: Are you going to buy them?

W: I don't know. These books are expensive. And I don't have a lot of money on me.

M: How about sharing them with me?

W: Sounds good.

M: Let's do this. I will buy three and you buy two of them.

W: I would rather do it this way: we pay fifty-fifty for the books now. And at the end of the course, you can take the books you find more interesting and I will take the ones I like.

M: It's really a better idea.

W: Then let's get the books as soon as possible.

(Text 10)

M: My dad has always told me to help others. Last week I was walking back home and I passed by an old lady who seemed to be in trouble. I asked if she was OK. She explained that she was sick and had to struggle to walk with her shopping bags. I offered to carry her things but she refused because she didn't want to give me any trouble. I told her that it didn't matter and her home was near my home. It was a white lie. She talked with me and introduced herself. I, in turn, told her my name. She asked if I knew Ray Robert. I was shocked and said, "Yes, that was my dad." It turned out that this lady was my dad's neighbor who had looked after my dad when my grandmother died in 1980. My dad had often spoken of her but I had never met her as she had moved away. When I got home and told my dad about the incident, it made him cry. I'm glad that my small act of kindness ended in a chance meeting that meant so much to us.

The Environmental Handicrafts Design Contest in Our School

Last Friday, all the students and teachers in our school witnessed the Environmental Handicrafts Design Contest taking place on the playground of our school. It was held to not only raise their awareness of environmental protection, but also cultivate their practical and innovative ability.

What highlighted the contest was that all the handicrafts must be made of recycled materials. Participants were supposed to hand in their works ahead of time. On the day of the contest, some excellent works were selected and awarded. At the final of the contest, they were all exhibited on the playground.

The activity appealed to many students as well as teachers and benefited them a lot. The immersive and fun experience motivated them to take action to protect the environment.

第二节

参考范文:

Then Jad told the story behind online. “First of all, he is a boy... It was Jude’s 5th birthday that day and it was the boy’s first haircut,” Jad said. In the following minutes, Jad said that it was actually Jude’s own idea to cut his hair, which was quite a good shock for people. He continued to uncover the facts. Jude didn’t cut before because it was his parents’ personal choice. Jude’s parents had let him grow his hair out for five years since he was born for a kind purpose.

When Jude was just born, his parents happened to know on TV that many kids with cancer had lost their hair. They decided to do something for those sick kids together with his newborn boy, Jude. As time went by and Jude grew up, Jude was told the plan by his parents. He was more than proud and delighted that he could donate his hair to kids in need. On his 5th birthday, he made a wish of helping others and decided it was time to cut his hair down. Although Jude was crying at the start of the haircut, he smiled and was happy for what he had done.
