How to use electronic devices wisely

Good morning ,everyone,

It's a great honor for me to stand here and address my speech titled
"How to use electronic devices wisely".

Nowadays, we frequently spend much time on electronic devices, such as smart phones and computers. Computers enable us to access the latest news and broaden our horizons. Smart phones with many game applications can keep us amused and entertained. However, eye damage, concentration problems and addiction can put our health at risk. It is clear that we should use the electronic devices within a moderate period to time.
Above all, we should use these devices under the guidance of our parents and teachers.

Thanks for your attention!

录音材料:

Text 1

M: Hi, Amy! This is Carl! Are you going to Beijing? I'd like to invite you to my party next week.

W: Well, I'm still in London and I'll fly to Seoul tomorrow. I'll go to your party if I come back then.

Text 2

W: What do you think of the apple pie? I made it myself.

M: Quite delicious. Even my mother's can't match this.

Text 3

W: David, I'm really sick. I'm afraid I've got a cold. I need some medicine, but I'm too weak to go outside to buy some. Could you help me out? I'll really appreciate that.

M: Certainly. I'll go right away.

Text 4

W: Ouch! My pencil is broken! Can I borrow yours, Bill?

M: You're the only person who still uses pencils to take notes in class. Everyone else uses a laptop.

Text 5

M: So when is dinner usually served at restaurants in your country?

W: Around 7:00 pm. It's still an hour away, so I guess we can easily find a table at the restaurant now.

M: I hope so.

Text 6

W: Would you like to go swimming this afternoon?

M:⑥ I wish I could, but I have to spend the rest of the day in the library.

I have a ten-page paper to finish. I should hand it in tomorrow.

W: Is that for Mr. Smith's class?

M: Yes. I have to write an article on the influence of the invention of paper-making according to what we learned in class. And I have to study math and chemistry, too. I don't know how I'm going to do it at all.

W: ⑦ Well, I've been doing well in chemistry, so I'd be happy to help you.

M: Thanks. I'll see you in front of the library.

W: OK. Good luck with the paper.

Text 7

M: Honey, I've got some great news for you. My boss said he'd give me a free holiday.

W: That's great. How long will your holiday last?

M: Er, it's Wednesday today.⑧ I don't need to work next week. And together with two weekends it can be a long holiday for me.

W: So what about taking a trip abroad? We can go to either Italy or Spain.

M: Since it's a long holiday, why don't we visit both of the two countries this time?

W:⑨Great idea! I really cannot wait.

M: Then let's plan the trip now.

Text 8

M: Good morning. What brings you down to the Housing Office?

W: I just got the key to my dormitory and I'm dissatisfied with it.

M: What's wrong?

W: First, when my roommate and I checked in, we discovered that there was only one key. We're supposed to have two.

M: That happens sometimes. What else is the matter?

W: ⑩When I got in the room, I noticed that there was litter everywhere. And there's one more problem that came up — flies. I saw a number of them in the room. And that really drives me crazy.

M: ⑪I'm terribly sorry about this. These things just happen from time to time, and you are the unlucky one this year. I'll send someone to clean up your room at once.

W: All right. But where can I stay until my room gets cleaned up?

M: ⑫We will put you up in a hotel near our school until all your problems are solved.

Text 9

W: Jason, have you read today's newspaper?

M: No. I was surfing the Internet the whole morning. So what is in the paper?

W: ⑬A ship that was carrying 14,600 live sheep from Romania turned over in Port of Midia in Romania last week. The ship was sailing to Saudi Arabia.

M: I hope nobody died in it.

W: The ship's crew were all saved. Several different groups worked to rescue the sheep, ⑭but at the end of several days, only around 75 sheep were saved.

M: That's really bad news. I don't think it's a good idea to move large numbers of live animals on ships.

W: I agree. Even when ships sail safely, the conditions often aren't good for animals.

M: You're right. ⑮I watched a video on the Internet in April last year. It showed thousands of sheep dying in the heat on a trip from Australia to the Middle East.

W: Poor animals! ⑯I don't think live animals can survive in such weather as today's in a ship.

M: ⑰Yes. The temperature is just too high in summer for both humans and animals.

Text 10

W: Do you love math? If you do, why not go to take part in the Noetic Learning Math Contest? ⑰ The contest is a problem solving contest for students in grades 2 to 8. ⑱It takes place once every half a year. The goal of the competition is to encourage students' interest in math, to develop their problem solving skills, and to inspire them to do well in math. ⑰During the contest, students are given 45 minutes to solve 20 problems. Many problems are designed to challenge students and to enrich their problem solving experience. Teachers in any public school or private school are encouraged to ask their students to take part in the contest. The top 10% of all students in the contest in each grade will receive “National Honor Roll” medals. ⑱The highest scorer of each team will receive a “Team Winner” medal. The top 10% of teams will receive “Team Achievement Plaques (奖章)”.
