Career Planning

Career planning is an essential exercise for senior students, because career is a crucial part of who we are, thus defining our future life to some extent.

Unfortunately, many students struggle with career planning with just a few ideas bouncing around in their heads, leading to stress or lack of motivation. To overcome these challenges, we students can complete a "career aptitude test" to get some insight on a possible career. If still in a dilemma, we can turn to parents or teachers for advice.

By prioritizing career planning, we are bound to excel in our academic and personal lives.

第二节

His father smiled when he noticed Martin's absent-mindedness. He sat beside Martin, which made the young boy a little nervous. He was afraid that his father would blame him. Instead, Dad gently said, "When I was about your age, I had a strong passion for everything to do with nature. Interest comes first. But daily persistence is equally important. That makes what I am today. I think you should ask yourself one question: Are you really interested in playing the flute and becoming a good flute player?"

Martin felt ashamed and then he nodded, saying he hoped to be a great flute player. Throwing his father a determined look, Martin took a deep breath and set his mind to the flute. So absorbed was he in the playing that he forgot about the time. Thirty minutes passed in a flash, which turned out to be unexpectedly enjoyable. It was right then that Martin realized if he moved forward every day with the same passion, persistence and drive that had brought him this far, he could reach his goal of being a great flute player.

W:I have never been to a place like this.

M:This is the best place around to get a good look at the stars. I'm going to fetch the telescope for you. It's in my car.

Text 2

M:Do you know the boy in the green T-shirt?

W:Of course. That's my brother Tom. Do you want me to introduce you to him?

M:Not now. Monday is my busy day. I have a lot to do tomorrow as well. How about the day after tomorrow?

Text 3

W:Do you have any experience in doing this kind of work, Mr. Jacobs?

M:I'm afraid not, but I've always been interested in it. And I have a lot of other experience, as you can see from my resume.

Text4

M:This cake is delicious. It must be from Fantasy Bakery on Broadway.

W:Actually, I made it myself. My mother taught my sister and me to make cakes when we were little girls. As a tradition in my family, she learned to make cakes from my grandmother.

Text 5

M:This dinner table is big enough for our family with two adults and four kids.

W:Looks great! It's wonderful to have dinner at it.

M: And the price is reasonable. I didn't expect to find such a cheap one. Let's take it now.

Text 6

W: Hi, John. You are a member of our school painting club, aren't you?

M: Yes, I am.

W: Do you often paint in the club?

M: Yes, but what we do most of the time is appreciate pictures.

W: That sounds fun.

M: Our club often holds painting competitions. I hope to win a prize in the competition next month.

W: Good luck! By the way, I'd like to join your club. When is it open?

M: It is open from 4:30 pm to 6:00 pm on Tuesday and from 3:00 pm to 4:30 pm on Thursday.

W: Great! I will go to the club at 3:00 pm this afternoon.

Text 7

W: Look at our room! It is in a dreadful mess. We must have a big cleaning this weekend.

M: OK.

W: But before that, we should do some preparation first. Could you please buy something after work tomorrow? Such as cloth, cleaning liquid, and ...

M: Perhaps you'd better give me a list. I don't think I could keep all of them in mind.

W: OK. I will give you a list later.

M: By the way, I guess we have cleaning liquid at home, which we bought last month, remember?

W: Oh, yes, so we don't have to buy it this time.

M: As for cloth, do you really need it?

W: Yes, it's used for cleaning the screen of the computer and mirror, of course. We should use a special cloth.

M: I see

Text 8

M: You seem busy.

W: You can't imagine what I have to finish by next Monday! This literature course is so difficult, I have to read two novels by next Monday and hand in a 3,000-word essay by next Friday.

M: So you don't want to go to an exhibition with me this Saturday?

W:I'd love to, but I'm already behind with my writing class because I had a cold for a week and missed a few lessons. You seem to have loads of free time.

M:Well, I just don't have as much academic work as you. My college life is colorful compared with yours. There are varieties of live performances as an art major.

W:Yes. I'm bored with the life of reading and writing every day.

M:Why don't we stop talking? Just work now. If you have finished everything on Sunday, we could go to see that new play next Tuesday.

W:Okay. I'll try. And I don't want to miss the student ball next Wednesday.

Text 9

W: Noah, why did you start horse-riding ?

M:Well, as a small child, I never had much interest in horses, though I wasn't scared of them. My older sister started horse-riding lessons. I saw the look on her face when she came home—really cheerful, so that's why I decided to try it.

W:Do you think horse-riding makes you fitter?

M: Actually I was always pretty fit because I liked walking, but being with horses so much has made me calmer and more willing to wait for things.

W:Do you take part in horse-riding competitions?

M:Yeah. I thought they were just for people who own their horses, but you can borrow or even hire one easily enough. And I met lots of friends there.

W:Will you carry on riding when you're older?

M:My family suggested I could teach the little kids at the club to ride, but what really attracts me is the idea of training horses, you know, the ones they use for races.

Text 10

M:Hello, everyone. I am Wei Guangming, an ordinary waste collector, born in China's Anhui Province in 1972. I have worked in Shaoxing for over ten years. Now I live in a 15 square-meter flat in the city. It is my personal art studio, too. Many people know me because of my oil painting skills. In the past I taught myself how to do oil paintings during my free time. Now I am excellent at oil painting. Up till now, I have completed over 1, 000 oil paintings. Many of them have been ordered by my customers. I am able to receive plenty of painting orders, about 30 paintings each month. I send most of my income to my family living in my hometown. I only leave myself a little to buy some necessary things. Every day, I get up at six in the morning to start my daily painting routine . Then I spend the whole afternoon working as a waste collector . I love painting very much. And my dream is to go to an art college to learn painting.
