A perfect performance of Chinese Shaolin Kung Fu amazed hundreds of audiences in Bowers Museum in US Southern California on Sunday.

This Kung Fu demonstration by Shaolin monks (僧人) was a highlight of the 2023 Shaolin Cultural Day, a rare cultural event for the Orange County community in Southern California.

"The event offers a unique opportunity for the Orange County community to actively engage with Shaolin culture and gain firsthand experience in various Shaolin activities," said Anne Shih, chairwoman of the Board of Governors of Bowers Museum. "Whether it's learning from Kung Fu masters or enjoying interactive Shaolin activities, these experiences will help audiences to experience the Chinese culture and better understand Chinese traditions," Shih said.

With a history of over 1,500 years, Shaolin Kung Fu is one of China's most treasured cultural heritage items, and has been practiced by Kung Fu lovers around the world.

Larry Lee, a 72-year-old resident of Orange County, said he has been practicing Kung Fu for over 50 years. "The traditional Chinese martial arts have deep intelligence in it. They relate to a way of life that goes much deeper than just fighting," Lee said besides Kung Fu, he is also interested in Chinese medicine and other elements of the Chinese culture.

The 2023 Shaolin Cultural Day served as a fitting finale (终场) to the 2023 Asian American Pacific Islander (AAPI) Heritage Month, providing a platform to honor and appreciate the contributions of the AAPI community.

"The event will help people of other communities to be better informed about China and the Chinese culture, and therefore developing understanding and friendship," said Cultural Counselor

 A. It was performed on a school's playground. B. Orange County didn't enjoy it often.
 C. Its performance lasted two weeks. D. It attracted visitors all over the world.
25. According to Anne Shih, what benefits does the event bring?
 A. Helping Southern Californians learn Chinese quickly.
 B. Helping audiences become Kung Fu masters through practice.
 C. Helping audiences have a better knowledge of Chinese traditions.
 D. Helping Orange County attract more Kung Fu lovers around the world.
26. How does Larry Lee think of Chinese martial arts?
 A. They include wisdom in them.
 B. They focus mainly on fighting.
 C. They represent Chinese culture and history.
 D. They inspire you to be expert at Chinese medicine.
27. Why is the event held in Wang Taiyu's opinion?
 A. To stress the importance of communities. B. To advise how to understand each other.
 C. To compare different cultures. D. To build up better friendships.

C

Schools across the US East Coast canceled outdoor activities, commercial airline traffic was slowed and millions of Americans were urged to stay indoors on Wednesday as smoke from Canadian wildfires drifted south, blanketing cities in thick and yellow smoke.

"It's critical that Americans experiencing dangerous air pollution, especially those with health conditions, listen to local authorities to protect themselves and their families," US President Joe Biden said.

New York's world-famous skyline, usually visible for miles, disappeared because of the smoke, which some residents said made them feel unwell.

"It makes breathing difficult," Mohammed Abass said as he walked down Broadway in Manhattan. "I've been scheduled for a road test for driving, for my driving license today, and it was canceled."

"It looks like Mars out there," said Fox Forecast Center meteorologist Brian Mastro just before 2 p.m.

New York Governor Kathy Hochul called the situation an "emergency crisis," noting that the air pollution index for parts of her state were eight times above normal.

In Bethesda, Maryland, a high school moved its graduation ceremony indoors, while a Brooklyn, New York, elementary school deferred its "Spring Fling" dance party. A school in Montclair, New Jersey, called off a fifth-grade trip to an amusement park.

The smoke was wafting (飘荡) over the US northern border from Canada, where hundreds of forest fires have burnt 9.4 million acres and forced 120,000 people from their homes in an unusually early and intense start to Canada's wildfire season.

Tymne Sylvester, 66, playing chess outside in Manhattan's Union Square as he has on most days for 30 years, but wearing a mask, said he had never seen the city's air quality so bad. "When the sun looks like that," he said, pointing at the smoky sky, "we know something's wrong. This is what global warming looks like.”

Poor air quality is likely to continue into the weekend, with a developing storm system expected to shift the smoke westward across the Great Lakes and deeper south through the Ohio Valley and into the mid-Atlantic region, AccuWeather said.

28. What do we know about Mohammed Abass?

- A. He took a test for driving.
B. He had no driving license.
C. He had some health conditions.
D. He stayed indoors as expected.

29. Which is closest in meaning to “deferred” in paragraph 7?

- A. Put off.
B. Took over.
C. Came up with.
D. Did away with.

30. What does the eighth paragraph mainly talk about?

- A. Canada’s poor management.
B. The areas affected by wildfires.
C. The cause of America’s smoke.
D. The consequences of air pollution.

31. What can be learned from the last two paragraphs?

- A. New York City smoke situation is not uncomfortable.
B. A strong wind will probably relieve the poor air quality.
C. Citizens have found new ways to fight climate changes.
D. The city’s air pollution doesn’t relate to global warming.

We’ve heard people say that we shouldn’t worry too much about the future. But this saying doesn’t hold true in the technological world. Here, you always need to think about the future, or else you won’t have the chance to be in the digital age. There are so many new inventions that come up daily, which help in making our lives better and easier.

The iPod we use daily was once a far-fetched thought of Mr. Jobs, which has become a reality today. Similarly, when television was launched, we thought nothing could beat this invention. Then came cable television, and now it’s the age of digital television. Similarly, until a few years ago, 3D was limited to movies, but today, we have 3D blueprints, 3D graphics, and 3D television sets as well. All these inventions were just a prediction by their inventors, but they later, went on to become a part of our lives. Similar predictions can be made for the future.

For example, how about having human-like robots that understand our instructions by simply speaking to them? We can talk with these robots regularly and simply instruct them to perform a particular task. If you want tea, you can simply require your robot to make it for you. These robots can be useful in industrial fields as well. For example, you can simply ask the robot to switch on the manufacturing line.

If waste keeps increasing, the future will see many problems related to pollution. So what about having a waste recycling machine that produces notebooks? Yes, I’m not talking about the regular recycling machines that give us raw materials we need to put to effective use. If we build recycling machines that produce a particular product out of the waste, it’ll do much help to the environment as well.

This list can go on and on. Our imagination has no limits and so does technology. Who knows? Maybe one of these ideas may become a reality in the near future!

32. What should we do according to the author?

- A. Take the future less seriously.
B. Use 3D technology more widely.
C. Base new inventions on experience.
D. Keep making predictions for the future.

33. What can so called human-like robots do according to the text?
 A. They can talk to themselves. B. They can understand human words.
 C. They can offer the users instructions. D. They can invent something for humans.
34. What does the author think of the waste recycling machine?
 A. It is achievable. B. It is profitable. C. It is affordable. D. It is impractical.
35. What is the text mainly about?
 A. The far future of technology. B. Ways of making predictions.
 C. Effects of predictions on inventions. D. The significance of human imagination.

第二节(共5小题;每小题2.5分,满分12.5分)

根据短文内容,从短文后的选项中选出能填入空白处的最佳选项。选项中有两项为多余选项。

Shyness is something that many people battle with every day. They are afraid to look people in the eyes and have a hard time speaking to new people. This makes it very hard to get ahead at work and in making new friends and business connections. 36 There are ways to get around this fear and get out there and start talking to people.

- Remember that most people are not looking at you. When you are shy you may believe that people are constantly watching and judging you. 37 Most people are always busy looking at themselves and worrying about what people think of them. When you are talking to someone new they are not picking apart your every word; they are worried about what you think of them.

- 38 Instead of always complaining yourself about things you think you are not doing better, turn your focus to the things that you do well. Your self-talk is very important to how you feel. Stop negative self-talk. Instead remind yourself every morning of all the great things you have to offer. Whenever you start feeling shy again run over your list of things that makes you happy.

- If you do not have an exercise routine, you should start one now. 39 You do not spend hours a day in the gym. You should spend about 30 minutes a day walking or doing something physical you enjoy. If you are physically capable you could also add 20 minutes of light weight training two or three days a week. 40 Being able to stand with your back straight and your head held high will definitely help overcome shy feelings.

- A. Focus on your strengths.
- B. This just is not the case at all.
- C. Stop complaining about others.
- D. They are brave to face any challenge in life.
- E. Many people are shy because they fear rejection.
- F. This will help you feel stronger and will improve your posture.
- G. Check with your doctor if you have not worked out for a while and then get to it.

I was in the back seat of a yellow taxi grabbing my mother's hand like a 5-year-old. But in fact, I was 28 years old, still 41, and hoping my mom would make it all right.

We were coming home from the 42, and I was in a full-body brace, having survived spinal (脊柱的) surgery exactly a week earlier and headed to my tiny apartment in San Francisco. Each time the taxi 43 over the steep hills, I felt as if my bones were 44. I doubted that I would get hurt again during the journey.

I was about to open my mouth to shout at the driver or at least 45 when my mom leaned forward and said cheerfully, "Thank you!" The driver glanced at us 46 from his mirror. "You're just the best driver I've ever seen," my mom continued. "These hills must be so 47 to drive on. And I am so 48. My daughter had surgery on her back and is so 49. Because of you, she's going to get home safe. Thank you. You're wonderful."

In the mirror, I could see the driver 50 proudly. I felt a flash of 51, but before I had a chance to 52 my mother's words, a miracle happened. The driver slowed down. He stretched his neck left and right to 53 a smooth ride before making each turn. Indeed, he drove us home like the best driver I'd ever seen.

In that moment of 54, what my wise mom had instinctively done was only obvious to me:

55 is powerful.

第二节(共10小题;每小题1.5分,满分15分)

阅读下面短文,在空白处填入1个适当的单词或括号内单词的正确形式。

Living Heritage: Guqin

Wandering sounds, irregular rhythms and a carrier of gentle emotions. This is the musical language of guqin, a seven string instrument 56 (create) in ancient China.

The earliest piece of guqin in China, unearthed in Hubei province in 2016, 57 (date) back to the Zhou Dynasty. The body of a guqin is made 58 painted wood and the strings of twisted silk. Unlike its seemingly simple appearance, making a guqin is 59 (extreme) demanding. An outstanding piece can take anywhere from two to several decades to craft. It is a crystallization of art and time.

The guqin 60 (favor) by the literati (文人) in ancient China. The most renowned guqin 61 (music) was Yu Boya in the Spring and Autumn and Warring States periods. As he played his guqin in the mountains, a woodcutter named Zhong Ziqi heard the music and understood exactly 62 Yu wanted to express. This deep understanding formed a strong bond between them, and they became close friends. This is 63 famous tale behind the guqin masterpiece, Flowing Water, High Mountains. The piece has been passed down through generations and is considered one of the most famous and important 64 (composition) in Chinese guqin music.

This graceful dialogue, 65 (flow) from brushed fingertips and travelling for thousands of years, is continuing to this day.

英语试题 第7页(共8页)

第四部分 写作(共两节,满分40分)

第一节 书面表达(满分15分)

假定你是李华,你们班准备在下周一重阳节那天去爬山,请你代表班级写一封邮件邀请外教 Lisa 参加。内容包括:

第二节 读后续写(满分25分)

阅读下面材料,根据其内容和所给段落开头语续写两段,使之构成一篇完整的短文。

One particularly cold Saturday in January, I was supposed to take our dog out for a walk, but it was so cold that I didn't want to go outside. Instead, I just opened the door and let the dog out by himself. I kept my eye on him to make sure he would come back inside.

However, another neighborhood dog quickly ran past our house, and our dog sped after to catch him. I hurriedly went to grab my coat so I could follow my dog, and then I rushed outside. Unfortunately, I was already too late, and my dog was nowhere to sight. I walked a few blocks, but I was unable to find him.

Depressed, I returned home. My mother was standing at the door waiting, and she asked me what had happened. "I know I was supposed to walk our dog," I admitted, "but I thought he would be able to go outside and come back by himself. Now he's gone and I can't find him anywhere."

My mother was very angry with me; she said I should have been more responsible. She decided to help by making some signs. The signs read, "Lost: A big black dog. Please call us right away." And she printed our phone number on the bottom. "Okay, Darrell," she said, as she handed over those signs, "now go post these on all the street posts."

My sister and I grabbed the signs and we posted them along our street as well as along the surrounding streets. The whole time, I was incredibly sad and worried about our dog. All I could think about was how cold it was and how cold our dog must be. My sister wanted to go home, so I told her I'd walk her home, but then keep looking for the dog myself.

1. 续写词数应为150左右;
2. 请按如下格式在答题卡的相应位置作答。

I took my sister home and continued my search alone.

When I returned, my mother was waiting for me, smiling broadly.

Our imagination has no limits and so does technology. Who knows? Maybe one of these ideas may become a reality in the near future! 可知,作者认为预言可以促进发明,并且相信预言有一天能被实现。由此可判断全文旨在说明预言对发明的影响。故选 C。

七选五 本文是一篇说明文,介绍了克服害羞的几条建议。

36-40 EBAGF

36. E 细节句。根据关键词“fear”可知,E项“许多人因为害怕被拒绝而害羞”。下文补充说明,“有一些方法可以帮助你绕过这种恐惧,走出去,开始与人们交谈”。故填 E。
37. B 过渡句。上文叙述,当你害羞的时候,你可能会相信人们一直在监视和评判你。B项“事实并非如此。”下文补充说明,“大多数人都忙于审视自己,担心人们对他们的看法。当你和一个新来的人交谈时,他们并不是在挑剔你的每一句话;他们担心你对他们的看法。”因此 B 项能承上启下。故填 B。
38. A 主题句 下文 Instead of always complaining yourself about things you think you are not doing better, turn your focus to the things that you do well.不要总是抱怨那些你认为可以做得更好的事情,把注意力转向那些你做得好的事情。由此可知,作者建议“专注于你的长处”。故填 A。
39. G 细节句。上文叙述,“如果你没有锻炼计划,你现在就应该开始锻炼”。该句进一步解释说明“如果你有一段时间没有锻炼,请咨询你的医生,然后开始锻炼。”下文补充说明“你不会一天花几个小时在健身房。你应该每天花大约 30 分钟散步或做一些你喜欢的体育运动”。故选 G。
40. F 细节句。上文“如果你身体有能力,你也可以每周两到三天增加 20 分钟的轻量级训练”该句表明其影响“这将帮助你感觉更强壮,并改善你的姿势”。下文补充说明“能够挺直腰背,昂着头站着,这肯定有助于克服害羞的感觉”。故选 F。

完形填空 作者刚刚接受了脊柱手术,在回家的出租车上非常担心再次受伤。虽然一路颠簸,但是作者的妈妈却赞美了司机,这一举动让他开车格外谨慎,最终作者和妈妈安全到家。妈妈用自己的智慧告诉作者,赞美的力量不容忽视。

41-45 ABADD 46-50 BBACB 51-55 DCDA

41. A 根据上一句中的 holding my mother's hand like a 5-year-old 可知,作者像五岁的孩子一样抓着妈妈的手,再根据空后的 hoping my mom would make it all right 可知,作者此时感到很害怕。
42. B 根据空后的 having survived spinal surgery a week earlier 可推知,她们刚从医院出来。
43. A 根据空后的 over the steep hills 可知,出租车在陡峭的山坡上“颠簸”。
44. D 根据空前的“Each time the taxi _____ over the steep hills”可知,出租车在陡峭的山坡上颠簸,作者觉得骨头都要错位了。out of place 意为“位置不当”。
45. D 作者担心车辆颠簸导致自己再次受伤所以要朝司机大喊表达不满,至少也要抱怨几句。
46. B 作者母亲的突然感谢,让司机感到“怀疑”。
47. B 根据上文中的“Each time the taxi _____ over the steep hills”可知,在这些山路上开车很难,故 hard 符合语境。
48. A 根据下文中的“Because of you, she's going to get home safe. Thank you. You're wonderful.”可知妈妈向司机表达了她的感激之情,故 grateful“感激的”符合语境。
49. C 根据空前的“My daughter just had spinal surgery”可知,妈妈告诉司机,作者刚做了脊柱手术,身体很虚弱。

英语答案 第 2 页(共 6 页)

50. B 根据上文妈妈对司机大加赞赏并结合空后的 proudly 可推知,作者从镜子中看到司机自豪地笑了。
51. D 由于作者感到颠簸难受,母亲却一直盛赞司机,因此,作者感到一丝“气愤”。
52. C 根据语境可知,作者不同意妈妈对司机的赞赏,故 contradict“反驳”符合句意。
53. D 根据上一句“The driver slowed down.”可推知,司机向左或者向右伸脖子是为了确保每次转弯都平稳一些,防止作者受伤。
54. A 由于作者刚刚动完手术,适逢司机在颠簸的道路上行驶,这种情况本身就是一场“危机”。
55. A 妈妈的赞美大大鼓舞了司机,他把车开得更平稳了。由此可推知,此处指赞美的力量很强大。

书面表达

Dear Lisa,

I am Li Hua, monitor of Class 1, Senior 3. I am writing to invite you to join us to climb Wugong mountain next Monday, which is the Double Ninth Festival. Mountain climbing serves as a traditional activity on that day. Standing on the top of the mountain, we can relax and enjoy a broader horizon.

We will gather at the school gate at 8:00 p.m. on that day. The school bus will take us to the Mountain. Bottled water and snacks will be offered. And there are stone steps up to the mountain top, so it won't be so challenging and tiring.

We'll really appreciate it if you join us.

Yours sincerely,

Li Hua

读后续写

I took my sister home and continued my search alone. Carrying the signs made by my mother, I kept posting them. In the meantime, whenever there were people passing by, I would ask if they had met such a dog. I even knocked from door to door, asking if they had seen it. No luck. Nobody claimed to have spotted our dog. What if I had taken the dog out for a walk? Tears of regret welled up in my eyes. As the darkness fell, I decided to come back home to check if anybody had called.

When I returned, my mother was waiting for me, smiling broadly. There, behind my mother, was our lovely dog looking up at me eagerly. Upon seeing me, it raced towards me. I couldn't hold my tears. "It just came back by itself," my mother said gently. Hugging the dog with relief, I apologized to my mother sincerely. "I am sure you have learned your lesson today," my mother replied in a comforting voice. I played with my sister and the dog again. Despite the freezing weather outside, my heart warmed up. It was on the day that I learned the value of responsibility.

W: How have you found your university life during this past month?

M: I thought it is tiring, but actually everything is new and interesting. It never disappoints me.

Text 2

M: Excuse me but I'd like to change my room. I'm in number thirteen on the third floor.

W: I'm afraid we only had small rooms left by the time you booked, sir.

M: I'm not complaining about the size; it's the air-conditioner. It isn't working.

Text 3

M: What's your hobby, Alice?

W: I like cycling. I cycle six miles every day along the river with my dad. How about you, Jack?

M: I like tennis. I play tennis with my uncle at the stadium every Saturday.

Text 4

W: How much do you charge for the coat? Can you give me a discount?

M: 300 dollars. It's already 80 dollars off the original price. We can't come down any more.

W: OK. I'll take it.

Text 5

M: Wow! What a beautiful and large home you have!

W: Thank you. Let me take your coat and hang it. And would you leave your bag here?

M: Oh, yeah. Do I need to take off my shoes and replace them for a pair of slipper?

Text 6

M: Tina, when I came back home this afternoon, I found you were not at home. Did you go shopping with your mother?

W: No. I went to the woods with my friends Alice. I bought some books last week. I wanted some beautiful leaves for bookmarks.

M: Have you found some beautiful one?

W: Yes, of course.

M: May I have a look at them?

W: Yes, but not now. It was very hot this afternoon. I sweated a lot while I was walking in the woods. Now I want a shower. Can we do that after I finish it?

Text 7

W: What do you think of Evan?

M: The new kid? I don't know much about him. He's pretty quiet in class, and he doesn't seem to want to play soccer with us after school. I've asked him many times, but he always says that he doesn't want to play.

W: He seems really shy. I don't think he's made any friends here.

M: Well, he's only been here a week or something, right?

W: If you have no friends, I'm sure that would seem like a really long time.

M: I guess you're right. Maybe we could invite him over tomorrow.

W: That's a good idea, but you'd better ask Mum and Dad about it first. They don't know anything about Evan, and they might want to talk to his parents before they let him come over.

M: Mum knows his dad already. They work at the same company. In fact, she met Evan before we did! I'm sure it'll be fine. I don't think we need to ask them. Anyway, they won't be home until six o'clock.

Text 8

W: Ah great. Thanks for pulling over.

M: Where to?

W: Well, I'm going to the National Museum of Art.

M: Sure. Hop in.

W: Uh. Excuse me. How long does it take to get there?

M: Well, that all depends on the traffic, but it shouldn't take more than twenty minutes for the average driver. And I'm not average. We should be able to get there in less than twelve minutes.

W: OK. Uh, do you have any idea how much the fare will be?

M: Oh, it shouldn't be more than 18 dollars, not including a tip, of course.

W: Oh, before I forget, can you recommend any good restaurants downtown?

M: Well, the Mexican restaurant, La Fajita, is fantastic.

W: Sounds great! How do I get there from the museum?

M: Well, you can catch the subway right outside the museum. There are buses that run that way, but you would have to transfer a couple of times. And there are taxis too, but they don't run by the museum that often.

W: OK. Thanks.

Text 9

W: Today in our program, our guest is the famous actor Albert. Welcome Mr. Albert.

M: Thank you.

W: Mr. Albert, can you tell us something about the place where you grew up?

M: Actually, I was born in a really very small village in America in 1949.

W: You studied at different art schools. Can you tell us something about the time when you were young? What were your dreams? What made you decide to become an actor?

M: I think I've always wanted to become an actor. That is why first, I went to drama school after graduating from high school. And then, as a student I enjoyed acting in theatre plays.

W: Can you tell me a little bit more about your career as a film star? What roles did you act?

M: My first film was called King Arthur, back in 1977. Some of my favorite films were Sophie's Choice, later on Out of Africa, and more recently, the film called Music of the Heart.

W: Mr. Albert, thank you for this interesting talk.

M: It's been my pleasure. Thank you.

Text 10

I was walking along Orchard Road when I realized a tall young man wearing a jacket and a tie was following me. I noticed him because not many people wear a jacket and a tie in the middle of a hot summer day, and I had already seen this man four times that afternoon.

To make sure he was following me, I walked on quickly, turned right into a shopping center and then stopped to look into a shop window. Soon, the man appeared and stopped at another shop window. I walked on and stopped several times. When I stopped, he stopped, too.

I began to be rather worried and decided to try to lose this stranger man. When I saw a taxi coming, I jumped into it. As I was telling the taxi driver where to go, I found the man got into another taxi, which then followed mine. At MRT station I told the taxi driver to stop and I got out. As I was paying my fare, I saw that the man was getting out of the taxi. By now I got angry, so I turned and walked straight to him. I asked him why he was following me. At first he said he was not following me at all, but when I threatened to call the police, he admitted he was. He then told me that he was a journalist and that he was writing an article on how elderly people in the United States spend their time. He said he was observing me to gather materials for his article.
