Through singing, they often become ^confident than before but also learn to control stress." Singing helps us live on peace together," she says happily.

书面表达:

One possible version:

Dear schoolmates and teachers,

With our country becoming stronger and stronger, we can't deny that there are some uncivilized practices in our city, like throwing rubbish everywhere and smoking in public.

Faced with these problems, it is high time that we took measures to change the situation. At first, tougher regulations on public areas may help citizens behave themselves. Besides, it would also be sensible to put up more banners to encourage good deeds, which can arouse citizens' awareness to spread the beneficial habits. More importantly, we must plant more trees, flowers and plants to make the city become greener.

Please keep it in mind that a small action can make a huge difference. As a teenager, let's join hands and act jointly to make the glory of civilization shine in every corner of our city .

Text 1

M: Hello, I'm looking for a book about ancient Egypt.

W: You're in luck! We just got one in last night. You can find it in the new books section.
However, you'll have to return it in half a month.

M: Thank you.

Text 2

M: Excuse me, how can I get to the railway station?

W: You can take the bus. It runs about 45 minutes to get there. But if you are in a hurry, you'd better take the underground.

M: My train will leave in 40 minutes. So I'd better choose the quicker option.

Text 3

W: Do you have time to go for a walk now?

M: Unfortunately not. I have to finish this report and study for the French exam but maybe later on I'm sick and tired of sitting at my desk! Some fresh air would probably do me good.

Text 4

M: How was the movie that you saw last night? I know how much you wanted to see it.

W: Well, I was hoping for something really wonderful. But the plot of this movie was old-fashioned, and the acting of the actors was terrible.

Text 5

W: Every time I open the cage, the cat chases the birds. I can't keep him in the house all the time.

M: Why not tie a bell around his neck? That way the birds can hear him coming.

Text 6

M: Can I help you?

W: Yes, well, I bought this tie last week for my husband's birthday. Unfortunately, he doesn't like it. Could I change it for something else, like a shirt or even a hat?

M: Certainly, madam, provided that you have the receipt.

W: Yes, here it is.

M: Thank you. Um....this tie looks like it has been worn. I'm afraid I can't change it for you.

W: Oh, that's a pity.

Text 7

W: I was thinking about what dishes should be prepared when your parents come on Friday.

M: Well, just prepare some home-made dishes.

W: Hmm... Is there anything they cannot eat?

M: My mom is allergic to tofu. And she may feel sick if she consumes it.

W: My aunt does the same. That's not a problem. Do your parents both eat meat?

M: Yes, but my dad doesn't eat pork, beef or mutton any more. The doctor said these were bad for his heart.

W: So either a chicken dish or fish?

M: Let's have the chicken. I don't like the smell of fish.

Text 8

W: Look at this one. Who are this old couple sitting on the chairs? Are they your grandparents?

M: Yes. Although they are over 100 years old, they are still full of energy.

W: Wow! How old are they exactly now?

M: My grandpa is 103 years old now. And my grandma will celebrate her 101st birthday.

W: That's wonderful. Are they the oldest people in the US?

M: I'm not sure. But they were given the title of the longest-living married couple in the US.

W: When were they married?

M: They got married about 80 years ago. They have had one son, one daughter, five grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

W: That's really a big family.

Text 9

W: Good afternoon, Prof. Johnson. My name is Alice Brown.

M: Good afternoon, Alice. What is your question?

W: I've been studying Spanish for some years. I go to Spain on holiday sometimes. I've learned quite a lot of grammar and vocabulary. But I find it very difficult to speak, and when I went to Spain this summer, I couldn't understand the Spanish people at all. I got really depressed.

M: Yes, it is a problem. How long have you been studying Spanish?

W: About four years.

M: Okay, how exactly do you learn Spanish? Going to an evening class or using tapes?

W: I've been going to an evening class and I've watched quite a lot of television programs.

M: I see. I always think that learning a language is rather like learning to drive. Now, you couldn't learn to drive a car by sitting in a classroom or watching television. I think what you need is a lot of practice in using the language.

W: I know what you mean. Thanks, I feel better after talking with you.

Text 10

M: Good morning, ladies and gentlemen. Welcome to today's morning news. With the end of the Olympics, the Paralympics are about to begin. Unlike the Olympics, the Paralympics take place without much attention. Nevertheless, there is a need for people to know about sports for people with disabilities. So, here is some information you may find useful. Sports for athletes with disabilities have existed for over 100 years, with the first sports club for the deaf established in 1888 in Berlin, Germany. When the London Olympics was held in 1948, Sir Ludwig Guttmann introduced the first Stoke Mandeville Games for wheelchair athletes with spinal cord-related injuries in southeastern UK. A total of 16 injured servicemen and women took part in archery at the event. Later on, other disability groups also established their international sports organizations, which arranged various competitions. The Stoke Mandeville Games then became the Paralympic Games, which first took place in Rome, Italy in 1960, featuring 400 athletes who competed in 57 medal events. The first Winter Paralympic Games were held in Sweden in 1976. The Paralympic Games have always been held every four years in the same year as the Olympic Games. And the International Paralympic Committee was founded on September 22nd, 1989 as an international non-profit organization in Dusseldorf, Germany to act as the global governing body of the Paralympic Movement.
