写作第一节:

One possible version:

When it comes to the place I fancy most, my hometown, a beautiful village, should be given priority to.

Located by the Yangtze River, my hometown covers an area of only 5 square kilometers, with a population of more than 800. Small as it is, due to its stunning natural beauty and pleasant climate, tourists from different places come to visit it for a temporary escape from the hustle and bustle of city life.

In the past ten years, great changes have taken place in my hometown. Although it isn't what it used to be, I will never forget the place where I was born and brought up no matter where I am now and where I will go.

第二节(满分 25 分)

Paragraph 1 A few days later, something terrible happened to Ronny. That afternoon after school, Ronny was bathing with some of his new friends in the river happily. Suddenly, he was stuck in the mud and couldn't get out. He struggled hard but he was still trapped. He screamed for help, but all in vain. The boys who had called Henry a coward got out of the water as fast as they could. They were so scared and did not even try to help him.

Paragraph 2 At that moment, Henry happened to pass by. He heard the screams and ran to the river as soon as possible. Seeing Ronny was almost drowned, Henry took off his clothes immediately and jumped into the water without any hesitation. He reached Ronny just as he was sinking the last time. With great effort, and with much danger to himself, he brought Ronny to the shore in time. Henry was happy to help his friend, though he was extremely tired.

W: Sounds great!

(Text 2)

W: Did you go to the football match last Saturday?

M: Oh, yes. It was supposed to start at 2:30 p.m., but it was delayed 15 minutes.

(Text 3)

W: Excuse me, sir. We're going to take off. Would you please turn off your cell phone?

M: I'm sorry. I will turn it off right now. And could you give me a glass of water?

(Text 4)

M: Lisa has come back from Britain.

W: Really? Did you see her?

W: She hasn't given me a call yet.

(Text 5)

M: Guess what! Someone stole my wallet last night!

W: Oh, what happened?

第二节

(Text 6)

M: I need to rent an outdoor tent. It must be big enough for four people.

W: Then you'll need our large tent. It runs 50 dollars per day. But, for an extra 10 dollars, you can reserve our extra large tent. It will offer some additional standing room space.

M: I think that's exactly what I need.

W: Great. Also, if you reserve a tent one month in advance, you can get a 10% discount.

M: Great! We happen to have the camping trip in a month.

M: Rosa, I sent you a message about the welcoming party for the new officer around noon. Did you get it? Will you be able to give me a hand?

W: Yes, I got it but I haven't had time to reply. I'd be happy to do what I can, but I'll be out until three in the afternoon.

M: That's OK, because the activity isn't scheduled to begin until around six. That should give us enough time to set up the tables and hang some balloons.

W: Come on in. Take a cookie.

M: Thanks. I'm glad to see you're not mad at me for firing you.

W: Not at all. At first, it burned me up. But I feel better now.

M: Good. How would you like your old job back?

W: What happened to your new manager?

M: Well, Jack White drank at work, and he often got drunk. Once he talked with his girlfriend over the office telephone for almost two hours. Yesterday he left work early. So I finally got rid of him this morning.

W: You replaced me with such a crazy man?

M: I lost my head. Julia, I never should've let you go.

W: No use crying over spilt milk.

M: So you'll come back and work for me?

W: Well, no way!

W: Hi. Welcome to Parent-Teacher Conference. So, what is your child's name?

M: It's Megan Jones.

W: Oh yeah, Megan. She missed the last couple of days. Has she been sick?

M: No, she's been having some problems with the other kids in your class, and ...

W: Well, you know, high school is a difficult time, but she just needs to speak up a little more in class ...

M: No, it's more than that. Some of the kids in your class have been making fun of her a lot about her appearance. And then, the other day, she said you made a comment about her shirt and jeans, like they were from the 1970s or something like that.

W: Well, I was just kind of joking a little bit with her.

M: Well, yeah, that's what you think, but other kids follow your example. Megan's been really, really anxious for some time.

W: Uh, I'm really sorry. Could you see if you can bring her to school tomorrow? Uh, I'd like to apologize and see what I can do to improve the situation.

M: Thanks. I'd appreciate it. That would help.

(Text 10)

W: I took my first trip to Ogunquit this past week with a great friend. I decided on the Admiral's Inn. After seeing a few pictures on their website, my heart was set on a room with an outdoor set — two chairs and a small table. Nothing is better than waking up and enjoying the first cup of coffee outdoors. Instead of booking through the website, I called the hotel directly to confirm that I got one of the rooms with an outdoor set, and the gentleman on the other end was as pleasant as could be. He arranged things exactly as what I hoped.

On travel day, we hit more traffic than expected. We called to let the hotel know that we would be a late check-in, and they were fine with it, stating that someone would be at the front desk until at least midnight. We drove straight through and made it by 11:30 p.m. Marty at the front counter was fantastic when we arrived. He gave us an overview of the town, what to see, what to do, how to get around.

The hotel itself was perfect for us. The room was really spacious. There was a small mini fridge that worked well. The bathroom was clean and also spacious. My only real dissatisfaction with the room is that the main window has thick curtains which work wonderfully, but there's no privacy curtains. If you want any natural light in the room, you become completely exposed to anyone walking by. A soft white curtain added under the current thick curtains would be perfect.
