Power Saving—A Must for Everyone

As is known to us, without electricity our society cannot run smoothly. But around us, electricity is often regrettably wasted, in contrast to which many places have been suffering severe power shortage. In order to ease the serious problem, we are appealing to you to do the following things.

First and foremost, we should make it a habit to save electricity and practice it in our daily life. For example, when leaving the room, we should turn off the lights and computers. Moreover, it is also our responsibility to remind more people around us of the importance of saving electricity. Many hands make light work.

Let's take an active part in the Power Saving Campaign. We firmly believe that we can make a difference.

读后续写范文:

Hearing this, I turned to my uncle. "I think we can plant trees too." Uncle Jita nodded his head, responding me with an approving smile. Later that afternoon, we found ourselves equipped with planting tools, following Kabir to the edge of the forest. Instructed by the master, we learnt quickly to plough the soil, set the saplings in place and water them with care. We called it a day at dusk and it occurred to us that we could use more helping hands to make a greater difference. To materialize our idea, we decided to appeal to more to join us.

In the years that followed, people in our village worked hard to carry out our project. With the joint efforts, the paradise grew bigger, providing home to more animals. Also, the risk of flooding was greatly reduced and the days are gone when people had to suffer from the water shortage. All of these have been captured in my uncle's camera, since I planned to record the change. Now, at the entrance of Kabir's forest stands a billboard displaying my photos. And at the corner of the board, I wrote "Inspired by the Man of the Trees".
