boy's face turned pale, seemingly feeling like sitting on pins and needles. The man noticed that and tried to comfort the boy. He said gently, "Don't worry. Whatever happens, please remember that there is always light behind the clouds." After hearing his words, the boy turned his head and looked at him. The man added, "I'm a father, too. Parents are always there and never let go of their children." The boy nodded, eyes full of hope.

Paragraph 2:

A few moments later, the conductor came along and called out, "Next stop - Smithville." The boy could not move. The man, however, looked as hard as he could. And then he saw it! He shouted so loud that all the people in the train turned around. "It's there! Look! The tree is covered with yellow ribbons! Not just one there's a whole bunch!" The father had every reason not to put up a yellow ribbon - and yet he did. Only a father whose love is real could blanket the tree with yellow ribbons, each one of them proclaiming reconciliation.

英语听力材料

第一节

1. M: Excuse me. The salad has only ~~four~~ types of ~~vegetables~~, but you told me ~~there'd~~ be six.

W: Oh, it's ~~my~~ fault. It's ~~for~~ table 9. Yours ~~will be~~ ready soon. A ~~moment~~, please.

2. M: Hello, ~~madam~~. How can I ~~help~~ you?

W: Yes, I'd ~~like~~ to return this ~~shirt~~. My son wants to get something a bit more fashionable. I'm sorry to trouble you. Please be quick. I'm just finishing my lunch break and I need to get back to the office soon.

3. M: Shirley, What's the time? I have to meet my niece at the railway station at 6:20. She called me half an hour ago. I just had an emergency meeting.

W: Oh, it's 6:00 now. 20 minutes to go.

M: That is enough.

4. W: I want to have my hair done. Look! What about the short and straight hairstyle in the magazine?

M: Just so - so. I think making your brown hair black is enough.

5. M: Susan, do you know what traditional Chinese painting mainly involves?

W: Yes. It mainly includes landscape painting, figures, birds and flowers.

M: So which do you like best?

W: I love looking at figure paintings most.

第二节

6 - 7. W: Robert, you're a car lover, so you must know something about electric cars.

M: Yes. Now it's quite common to drive electric cars. That means less air pollution. Tesla is making a new kind of electric car this year.

W: Is there anything special about it?

M: Yes. It can drive much farther than most electric cars.

W: It must be expensive.

M: Actually, it will be their least expensive car. Besides, many people, myself included, are crazy about its design. Its top is all glass!

8 - 10. W: Wow, it's really a big bookstore. What kind of book do you want to buy today?

M: I'd like to get a book about Abraham Lincoln's life. I'm really interested in learning more about the great man.

W: It must be helpful for you to complete your paper.

M: You're right. And you?

W: I'm looking for some fantasy books.

M: You must love this kind of book very much.

W: Not really. Adventure stories are my favorite. Actually I need books for my younger brother. He is turning fourteen this weekend.

M: How about buying the Harry Potter series for him?

W: He read those books two years ago, but he hasn't read The Lord of the Rings and The Hunger Games yet.

M: ~~Will you buy both of the series for him?~~

W: No. ~~Just the latter. I don't have so much money today.~~

11 - 13. W: Honey, what are you doing on the Internet?

M: I'm reading about a summer day camp. Have you ever heard about Mount Tom?

W: Yes, the boy living next door took part in the camp last summer. However, I'm more concerned with what participants think of it than anything else.

M: Well, it's a traditional summer day camp and a leader in early childhood programs. It's conveniently located to all areas of Lower Westchester.

W: So what can kids do in the camp?

M: It can help them make new friends and learn life skills. Teachers and coaches help campers learn and enhance social, athletic and cultural skills every minute of every day. The pools, fields and courts provide the perfect space for campers to participate in over 50 developmentally appropriate, fun - filled activities.

W: That sounds not bad. Who can go to the camp?

M: Children aged from 3 to 14. What about letting Jason go to it this summer? I don't want him to stay indoors every day.

W: OK. Let's talk about it with him after he comes back from school today.

14 – 17. W: Welcome to join us today, Mr. Shole. Your story with a female tiger has become famous on social media. Could you tell us something about it, please?

M: OK. The tiger was just three months old then when I met it for the first time. Its owner asked me to watch over it. Since then the tiger and I have become inseparable.

W: Sounds interesting. Do you often play with the tiger?

M: Yes. It's not aggressive or angry at all, however, heavy steel bars are installed for it. It sleeps in an enclosure at night and sometimes I spend my nights there with it, sleeping right next to it.

W: Is the tiger big?

M: Yes. The average weight of the common females of this species is 140 kilograms, but it is 40 kilograms overweight.

W: That's quite a lot, even for tigers. How long is it?

M: Three meters, and its height is one meter.

W: So how often does it eat?

M: It eats twice a day. The menu includes about 6 kilograms of meat of different varieties each meal.

W: Well, such a striking friendship between a young guy and a fairly young animal is really fantastic. Thank you again for sharing your story with us tonight, Mr. Shole. And that's all for today's show.

18 – 20. W: Good evening, everyone. In tonight's program, let's get to know an inspiring blind Chinese man named Zhang Hong. He has climbed onto the tallest peak in the world from the Nepal side. He became the first blind man in Asia and the third in the world to climb Mount Qomolangma. The man completed the 8,849 meter – high Himalayan feat on May 24, 2021 along with three high altitude guides. And then he returned to the base camp three days later. Zhang was born in southwestern Chinese city of Chongqing. He lost his sight at the age of 21 due to some kind of disease. He was inspired by Erik Weihenmayer, a blind American mountaineer who climbed onto the tallest peak of Qomolangma in 2001. Zhang began training under the guidance of a mountain guide friend. He was still very scared while climbing. Because he couldn't see where he was walking, and he couldn't find his center of gravity, so sometimes he could fall. Zhang said, "I kept thinking even though it was hard, I had to face those difficulties and dangers. This is the meaning of climbing. No matter if you're disabled or normal, whether you have lost your eyesight or you have no legs or hands, it doesn't matter as long as you have a strong mind. You can always complete a thing that other people say you can't."
