Flower Power

When her grandmother's health began to worsen last autumn, Mary would make the drive from Washington, DC to Winchester, VA every few days.

She hated highway driving, finding it ugly and boring. She preferred to take winding country roads to her grandmother's hospital. When she drove through the rocky town of Harpers Ferry, the beauty of the rough waters was always appealing to her.

Toward the end of her journey, Mary had to get on highway 81. It was here that she discovered a surprising bit of beauty during one of her trips. Along the shoulder of the highway, there was a local stretch of wild flowers. They were thin and delicate and purple, and moved back and forth in the wind as if whispering poems to each other.

The first time she saw the flowers, Mary was seized by an uncontrollable urge to pull over on the highway and pull a bunch from the soil. She carried them into her grandmother's room when she arrived at the hospital and placed them in a vase by her bed.

For a moment her grandmother seemed more lucid (清醒的) than usual. She thanked Mary for the flowers, commented on their beauty and asked where she had gotten them. Mary was overjoyed by the ability of the flowers to wake something up inside her sick grandmother. She Afterwards, Mary began carrying scissors in the car during her trips to visit her grandmother. She would quickly glide onto the shoulder, jump out of the car, and clip a bunch of flowers. Each time Mary placed the flowers in the vase, her grandmother's eyes would light up and they would have a splendid conversation.

One morning in late October, Mary got a call that her grandmother had taken a turn for the worse. Mary was in such a hurry to get to her grandmother that she sped past her flower spot. She decided to turn around, head several miles back, and cut a bunch.

Mary arrived at the hospital to find her grandmother very weak and unresponsive. She placed the flowers in the vase and sat down to hold her grandmother's hand. She felt a squeeze on her fingers. It was the last conversation they had.

Young Americans Are Less Wealthy Than Their Parents

The cost of living in the United States is going up, notes writer Alissa Quartz. As is reported in New York Post, Quartz points to "the costs of housing, education and health care in particular." At the same time, a new study, the report of which is called "The Fading American Dream" found that half of Americans born in the 1980s are falling behind their parents economically.

These findings show that many younger adults are experiencing "downward mobility." In other words, they are not doing as well economically as their parents were at the same age. The idea of downward mobility is especially troubling for Americans, writes Robert Samuelson in The Washington Post. He says most U.S. citizens believe that, over time, the amount of money they earn will rise and life will get easier.

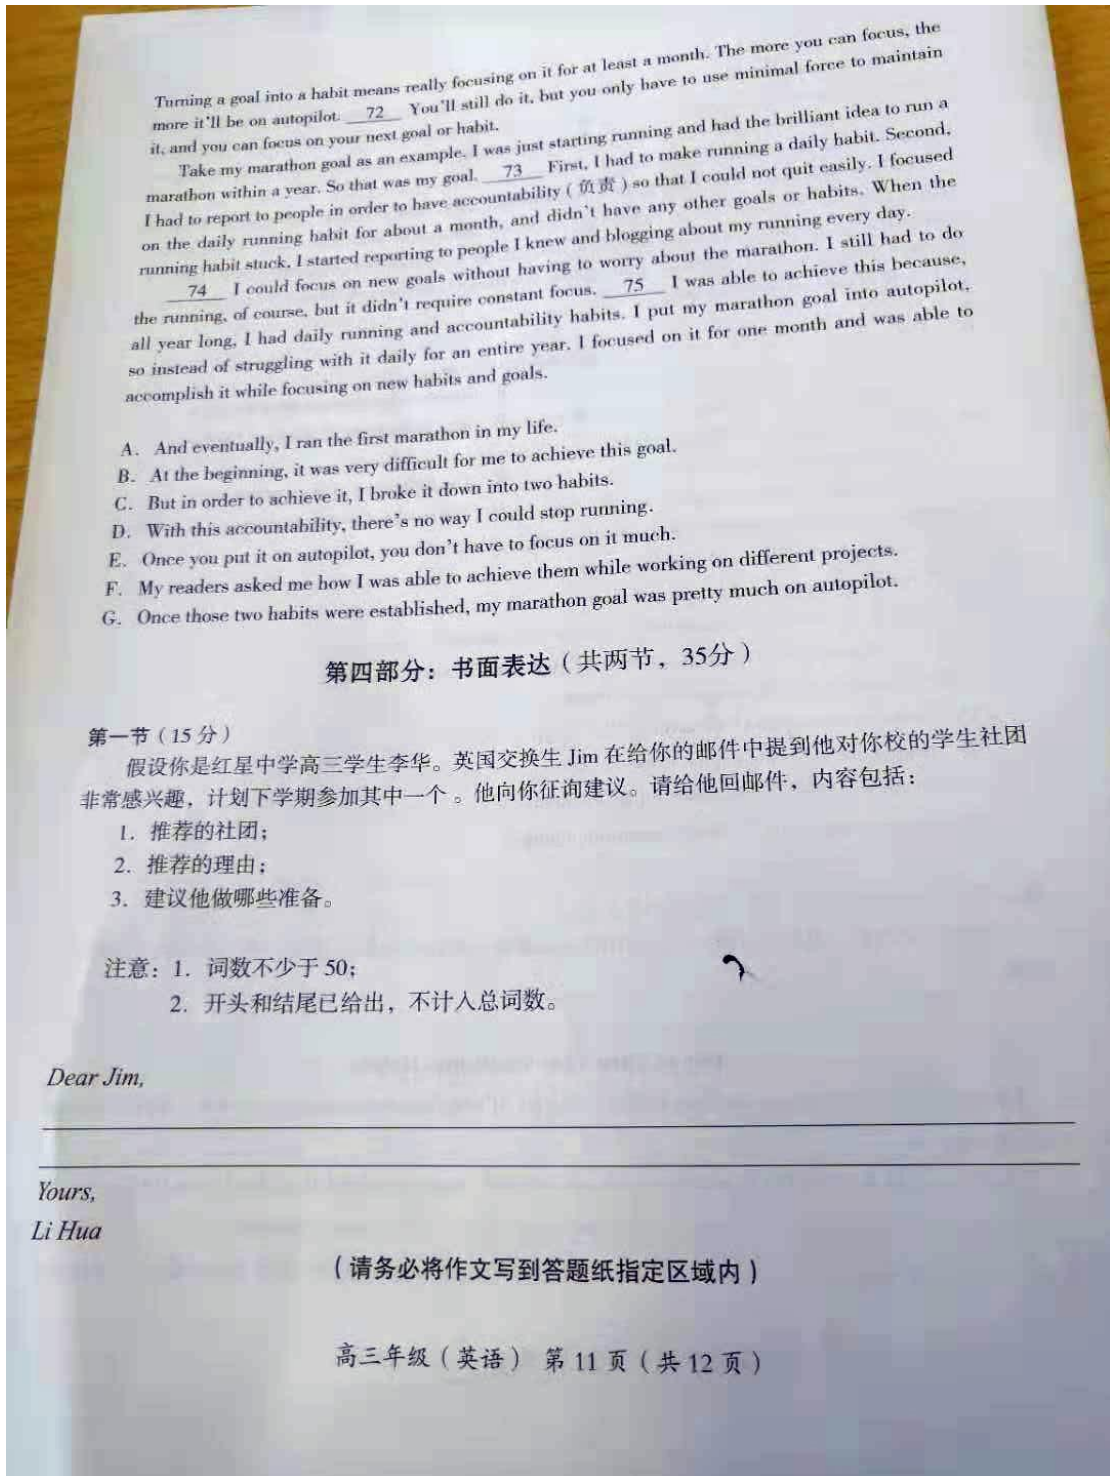

Alissa Quartz wrote a book about the financial difficulties of Americans. In the book, Quartz tells about teachers who are struggling to pay for regular costs. One high school teacher drives for ride sharing service Uber at night to earn more money. He corrects students' papers between riders. A college professor turned to government assistance to feed her child and pay for a doctor. Quartz says even lawyers increasingly cannot earn an income that enables them to meet their needs. The problem of decreasing incomes in their field is made worse by debt they may have from law school.

Quartz and the economists who studied these issues say many things have led to lower incomes and downward mobility. The economic recession of 2007 to 2009 is partly to blame, they say. Modern technology also plays a part. Quartz says robots threaten to reduce the earnings of health care workers, reporters, and people who work at supermarkets, drug stores and tax preparation services. In The Washington Post, Robert Samuelson noted that poor schools, a weak housing industry and too many

Dear Jim,

I'm more than delighted to know you are curious about the club activities of our school and want to join one next term. I'd like to recommend Peking opera club to you, which I believe you will enjoy a lot from.

I recommend this club to you for the following reasons. First, Peking opera is like a pearl in Chinese traditional art. Joining this club can give you a taste of Chinese traditional art forms and even have a hands-on experience. Besides, the club will regularly organize various activities, such as inviting famous actors to perform, and drawing Peking opera make-ups. Considering your interest in Chinese history, I believe getting close to Peking opera will also be a good way of learning more about it.

When it comes to preparation, you can watch some famous Peking opera videos on the Internet or read some relevant materials, which will definitely be beneficial for you.

Hope my suggestions can be of help. If you want to learn anything more, don't hesitate to contact me.

Best wishes.

Yours,

Li Hua

One Possible Version

Last month, my classmates and I participated in the activity themed “Pride of China” in our school.

In one class meeting, after our teacher informed us of this activity, we had a discussion on the topic. In the end, my idea to show the history of Chinese characters stood out.

We started by learning more about the topic. Firstly, we visited the museum to learn about the origin and evolution of Chinese characters. We also consulted our teacher, who explained to us how they came into being. The next step was to make the display board. With our joint efforts, we successfully made an informative and attractive one.

On the day when the exhibition “Pride of China” was held in our school, I introduced the charm of Chinese characters with great pride, which was well received with applauses. I am glad that we did our bit in providing the students with a chance to appreciate the achievements of ancient and modern China.

附：听力录音稿

Text 1

W: Nice to meet you. I' m Flora.
M: Hello, Flora. You sound British. Are you from Britain?
W: No, I come from Australia. How about you?
M: I' m from America. My pleasure to meet you.

Text 2

W: Have you seen my car key? I remember I put it on the desk beside the cellphone. But now I can' t find it anywhere.
M: Don' t worry. Check it under that book.

Text 3

W: When shall we meet at the school gate? Is 4:00 pm OK for you?
M: My class will finish at 4:00 pm, so I won' t make it then.
W: OK, 4:30 pm. It will give you enough time.
M: Good, the concert starts at 7:00 pm. Let' s have supper first.

Text 4

M: I' d like to sign up for a membership. Can I have more details?
W: Of course. Here are three kinds: one-month membership, three-month membership and six-month membership. Which would you like?
M: I think I will pick the shortest one and see whether it will work.
W: OK, that will be more expensive then.

Text 5

W: The music festival is around the corner. It attracts singers and musicians from all around the world.
M: Anybody special will give a performance?
W: Yes, Anna may get a chance to play in the concert.
M: Em...She is very talented but she is still studying music in the university.

Text 6

W: Is that Daniel speaking?
M: Yes.
W: This is Lisa, from Shanghai E-commerce Corporation. I've read your application letter and know about your education background and previous working experience. But one thing you didn't mention is why you left your last job. I know the company you worked for is a good one.
M: Yes, it's a good company. But the management changed last month. We didn' t get along, so I quit.
W: I understand. Why would you like to join our company?
M: I've heard a lot of good things about your company. You take care of your employees. And your company offers good salaries and benefits. But most importantly, I think I am suitable for the job.
W: OK, that' s good to hear. We will inform you of the result later.

Text 7

M: Hi, how' s your apartment?
W: Well, I' ve decided to look for a new place.
M: Oh, what' s the matter? I thought you liked the apartment. The neighbors are too noisy?
W: I do like it. The neighbors are nice. But it is some distance from school, and the traffic is just killing me. Do you think you could help?
M: How much do you want to spend on rent?
W: Uh, somewhere under $200 a month. Oh, and I' d prefer a furnished apartment.
M: Got it. Anything else? Do you need a parking space?
W: No.

M: Well, I know there' s an apartment complex around the corner. I' ll drop by there on my way to class today.
W: Thanks a lot.

Text 8

M: Jenny, could you tell me where the closest ATM is?
W: It' s not far. Do you see that yellow building over there, which is beside the post office?
M: The big one or the small one?
W: The big one.
M: Yes, I see it.
W: It' s right next to it. On the right.
M: Do you know if there is a convenience store around here?
W: I don' t think so. The closest one is on the 3rd street, but it' s probably closed now.
M: I really need to get something before I leave.
W: Well, you could go down to the 22nd street. There are lots of stores down there that are open 24 hours a day.
M: Can I take a bus or the subway to get there?
W: Yes, but taking the subway will probably take half an hour and bus will take more time. You can take a taxi.
M: Won' t that be expensive?
W: No, from here I think it' s only about 5 dollars.

Text 9

M: Hi, Jane. Are you busy now?
W: No, I just finished my report. What' s the matter?
M: I' m supposed to do a project for my history class, but I' m having a hard time finding articles. I don' t even know where to start.
W: I heard your professor is really strict. Have you decided the topic?
M: The Civil War.
W: Well, most of our materials are available. We don' t have a computer in this classroom. But we can go to the library computer room. Just type it in and all the articles with "Civil War" in the title will come up on the screen.
M: But I plan to do it at home this weekend.
W: That' s not a problem. All of the library' s electronic sources can be accessed through any computer connected to the network.

Text 10

M: Hello, Customer Service Center. Can I help you?
W: I' m calling to complain about the coat I bought on your online shop. I can' t believe this is happening. I ordered a coat of size 6 last Friday. But today I found that you sent me a size 9. It' s too large for me. What am I supposed to do?
M: I' m really sorry, madam. I' ll check it right away. Would you please tell me your order number?
W: It' s AD5639.
M: Just a minute. I do apologize, madam. There did seem to be a mistake. Would you like us to refund, or have the correct size coat sent to you?
W: I prefer the latter. But I' m planning to go travelling this weekend and expect to wear it then.
M: No problem. I' ll have the correct one sent to you immediately and it will arrive in time. Your name and address?
W: Juli Duncan. 29 Street, London.
M: 29 Street, London. Could you spell your last name, please?
W: It' s D-U-N-C-A-N.
M: Ok. Got it. Sorry for the inconvenience. I promise it won' t happen again.
W: Ok. Well. Thank you.
