第四部分 写作 (共两节, 满分 40 分)

第一节 应用文写作 (满分15分)

Good morning, respected teachers and dear fellow students!

I feel so honored/privileged to deliver a speech themed at food for life. The past years have witnessed the severeness of food crisis worldwide. However, some of us haven't attached great importance to the issue. Food waste is still a common sight, especially in the canteen.

Facing the stern reality, I think it's high time that we stopped it. Not only are we expected to raise the awareness of saving food, but also go into action immediately. Do remember, every bit of effort counts in the process of saving food for a better life.

Thank you for your listening!

第二节 读后续写 (满分25分)

I picked myself up and put a trembling hand into my pocket. Then I brought out what was left of my grandfather's proudest possession. There was deep bulge in the watch, the glass shattered, and the Roman numbers looking crazily at one another. Putting it back, I rode slowly on to school, numb with misery. After what seemed forever, I finally turned up before the waiting boys. "My mother wouldn't let me bring it," I lied. "His mother wouldn't let him," Crawley jeered. "What a story!" The others took up his cries and left without a backward glance.

"That's not the right way. Patience, Will. Patience," a voice echoed in my ears after the boys left. Though anger, embarrassment and sadness hung heavily in the air, the voice drew me to the awareness of the mistakes I had made when I attempted to impress the boys. I shouldn't have tried to integrate in such a hasty way, nor should I have stolen the watch behind my mother. It was the first time that I had truly realized the meaning of the gift --- patience. I knew for sure that every time I lost patience in the future I would remember my grandfather's words.

听力原文:

Text 1

W: Don't wear that white shirt. It's dirty. Why don't you wear the blue one with the long sleeves?

M: I can't wear that. There is a hole in the pocket. Pass me the black one.

Text 2

M: Excuse me, I noticed the four empty seats beside you. Are any of them taken?

W: These two are for my friends, but I'm not sure about the other two. No one has taken the three in the last row, though.

Text 3

W: Stop scratching your arm, Sam.

M: I can't help it, Gina. It's so hot outside, and the mosquitoes just love me this year!

W: Well, I hope you close the windows tonight. Here put on this medicine.

Text 4

M: Madam, do you know why I pulled you over? You were doing 75, and you weren't supposed to go more than 50. Please show me your driver's license.

W: Officer, I hope you will let me off with just a warning. My boss is waiting for me...

Text 5

W: It looks like some people are leaving the stadium. That might be a good idea if we want to get home earlier. Our team is losing, anyway.

M: Only by one goal! I don't care if it starts raining cats and dogs. We came here to watch the game!

Text 6

W: Are you coming down for breakfast? They serve it until ten. (7)

M: I was thinking about going for a swim first. I'll only be about thirty minutes or so. If you want to go with the kids first, that's fine. I'll catch up with you later.

W: Why don't you just take a shower? It's much faster, and you'll get the same effect.

M: I won't be that long. I just want to see the waves crashing onto the beach front.

W: Suit yourself. But even if you are back in thirty minutes, that only gives you five minutes for breakfast. And we leave around an hour after that. (7)

Text 7

W: Hi, Bob. I heard about your accident but I didn't know it would be this bad.

M: Well, thanks for making me feel better.

W: I can hardly recognize you. Tell me what happened.

M: I just got back from Africa where I had a terrible accident during a motorcycle race. (8) I broke both my legs when my motor failed and was hit by another motorcycle. I was laid up in a hospital for three weeks.

W: Three weeks? That's a long time. What did you do while you were in the hospital?

M: Well, if you can believe it, I read all about motorcycle racing. I love racing even when it pains me.

(8)

W: Ha-ha! But I'm afraid you don't make it look very funny. You are lucky to be alive.

M: That's for sure. I'm lucky to be alive.

W: How soon will you recover? Did the doctor tell you?

M: They say I still need to stay in bed for two weeks or so. (9)

W: You'll probably put on some pounds in that much time! By the way, is there anything I can do for you?

M: No, thank you. Thank you for the beautiful flowers. (10) It's very kind of you to come and see me.

W: My pleasure. I'll be going then. Bye.

M: Bye.

Text 8

M: Yes, Teresa? Did you have a question?

W: Oh, sorry, Mr. Johnson. I was just stretching.

M: You raised you hand...

W: Yes, I just had a little pain in my arm from all the careful notes I've taken. (11) I know you said to save all questions for the end of class. (12) Sorry for the confusion.

M: No wonder you had to stretch! OK, class, I was just telling you about the emperor kneeling in the snow.

We've seen this before in a famous painting. If you'll just turn to page 54 in your textbooks... Yes, Teresa? Do you have another pain in your arm?

W: No, Mr. Johnson. I was wondering if I could use the restroom.

M: No need to ask, Teresa. Just go ahead next time. Please come back quickly. I don't want to start the short film until you are back with us. (13)

W: Thank you, Mr. Johnson. I'll be back in less than two minutes.

Text 9

W: I need to get a new pair of sunglasses. They need to be strong so they'll last for a long time. I keep on breaking mine every time I go into the woods to go hiking. (14)

M: At least you still have yours. I've lost so many pairs of sunglasses! Even when I tell myself not to, they still come up missing.

W: When was the last time you lost a pair?

M: Earlier today...

W: What? That can't be. I'll be with you all day and I never saw you with any sunglasses on.

M: Ha-ha, I'm just kidding. But seriously, I think the last time I lost my sunglasses was two weeks ago. (15) I wonder if they sell an insurance program that will replace a lost or broken pair.

W: Why don't you go up and ask them? Sunglasses Hut has a very good reputation. That's where I get all my sunglasses.

M: I am worried that they won't to take me seriously. And all the pairs in there are super expensive. (16)

W: Come on, let's go see what they have! Maybe we'll both leave with new sunglasses!

M: Fine. But we need to find a restaurant first. I'm starving! (17)

Text 10

Have you heard of the Golden Rule? (18) The great Chinese philosopher Confucius taught this principle. It is a very important and well-known idea. The rule says not to do anything to other people that you would not want them to do to you. (18) It is a very simple yet deep truth. Confucius possessed a lot of important wisdom like this. He encouraged many values like children respecting elders, people respecting their ancestors, and wives respecting husbands. He desired for these moral principles in people's lives and in the government of the country. (19) He believed that people should develop their own personal rules instead of simply memorizing rules of behavior to follow. He also had a thoughtful way of teaching. Instead of presenting his ideas through arguments and reasoning, he taught his rules through personal examples. He himself studied hard and sought truth, dreams and a perfect personality. In short, Confucius aimed to establish a world of great harmony. For over two thousand years, his teachings and beliefs still have a great effect on Chinese culture. Many other cultures around the world have also been influenced to this day by these important moral teachings. (20)
