第四部分 写作

第一节

Books bring people into the presence of the greatest minds that have ever lived and benefit people in many ways. With the aim of inspiring students to read actively as well as enriching campus life, our school will hold a reading festival next Monday, which is scheduled to last two weeks. A series of activities including a display of reading notes and book sharing sessions will be launched during it. There will also be an opening ceremony and closing ceremony. Your support will surely make the festival a huge success. Looking forward to your participation.

第二节

Paragraph 1

Then I noticed Jack signaled to the referee for a pause. So we headed towards Jack and gathered around him. Somehow one of teammates began complaining about Bryce. Feeling frustrated and aggrieved, Bryce argued that he just tried to get scores. Jack looked into our eyes, saying, "It is easy to blame someone for mistake, but remember that basketball game is a team effort. We win together or lose together!" So ashamed was Bryce that he promised to keep calm and cooperate.

Paragraph 2

高三英语 ( 答 ) — 1

Whistle blew again and we came back to the court. It seemed that something clicked with the boys. When we showed up for the desperate fight, we began to integrate the kinds of teamwork into the game. Though our opponents had possession of the ball, I stole it once again and passed it to Bryce. Finding he got double teamed, Bryce managed to pass the ball to one of us. He shot. Yes! We made it! The final buzzer rang! We screamed with excitement and hugged together. Since this memorable basketball match, we have been ready for every battle. There is no limit to what we can accomplish as long as we play a team. The power harnessed from it is impregnable.

听力原文

(Text 1)

M: Hmm, Do you have one of them in a large size? It doesn' t fit.

W: Oh, I am sorry. That' s all we have in stock at the moment. There are shirts of different styles over there. Why don' t you take a look at them?

(Text 2)

W: Excuse me! We have 3 tickets to Florida at 11:30 and it' s already 11:00. The flight number' s 1250. Can you please hurry?

M: Ok, oh, I' m sorry ma' am, but that flight has been delayed. It won' t leave for one and a half hours.

(Text 3)

W: Do you have some ideas where I can get some masks? The flu in winter is horrible?

M: Why don' t you ask Jane? I saw her get some from a nearby drugstore a few days ago. She might share the address with you.

(Text 4)

W: Good morning, I have come here to inquire whether I can get a visa to your country.

I have been invited to teach Chinese at the university of Hawii for two years. And it' s my first time to apply for a visa.

M: Ok, Can I have a look at your letter of acceptance?

(Text 5)

W: Did you enjoy your life in the countryside?

M: Absolutely. During the three years' life here, I 've experienced what I can' t in the city, raising chicks, planting trees and playing chess with my Grandpa.

(Text 6)

W: Friday is a public holiday! Why don' t we go to the Hocky Farm and spend the long weekend there? We can leave on Thursday night.

高三英语 ( 答 ) — 2

M: I'd rather go on Saturday. It's so wonderful that you finished your homework in advance, but I haven't. Besides, my cousin Lisa's coming here for a business trip and I have invited her to dinner on Friday.

W: Such a tight schedule you have got! How about you hurry on with your paper and then we can go to the farm on Saturday? We can take Lisa with us.

M: Perfect! We will see you on Saturday.

(Text 7)

M: Hey, Guys, it's Charlie here. Welcome to the Weird But True! I'm so thrilled that our former episodes are getting more hits. Today we are going to make an episode behind the scenes for "trees".

W: Right. Today we are going to make the show in a tree 300 feet in the air, which is absolutely crazy!

M: Totally! We can see that our camera guy Gabe is preparing right now. Gabe has never climbed a tree before in his entire life. And today he is going to give it a try.

W: Look, our guide has reached the top, and our cameraman's following him. They're climbing a pine tree today.

M: So now, after they have already got to the top. We are going to help them lift all the equipment up, and then we can go up and start today's shooting.

(Text 8)

W: Didn't you go to Paris? To see the very typical romance of France?

M: No, we went to Brittany. It is in the northwest in France and close to the sea. It is less touristy but has amazing sightseeing.

W: Brittany? That's a dreamland for literature and art lovers.

M: Exactly. The attractions there are all quite artistic, like Fort National, Place de la Mairie, Cote de Granit Rose, and so on. And my favorite one goes to Cote de Granit Rose—the coast covered with rosy rocks.

W: Did you take the boat? They said it would be a pity if you went to Brittany but didn't cross the English Channel by sea.

M: Well, we didn't have enough time. We took the flight there on Friday and got to fly back by Sunday.

(Text 9)

W: Hi Jim, How has your study in environmental microbiology been this year?

M: Oh I changed into environmental systems engineering last semester. I wasn't really interested in microorganisms.

W: Oh, in that case, did you attend the speech made by Mr. Lin yesterday in the college library?

M: No. I was busy preparing for an experiment, but I would have attended if I had known about that. After all, Mr. Lin used to guide my course papers.

高三英语(答)—3

W: The speech was quite special. Mr. Lin introduced not only the new developing trend in environmental science, but also some actions we could take to fight environmental pollution.

M: Deep knowledge and humorous style, that's very Mr. Lin.

W: Right. But what was strange was that at the end of the lecture, Mr. Lin seemed a little hurried and finished quite suddenly.

(Text 10)

Tiny came to me after school yesterday, complaining about the difficult courses she was taking and the pressure she was under. She wanted me to give her some advice on how to deal with all these problems. I didn't talk much with her, recommending a documentary to her. With the finals approaching, I suppose you all must feel anxious. Maybe it's necessary to share this documentary with all of you. The lesson it teaches you can get you pumped up, so you may have a different attitude towards your life. It is a story about your shipyard in Barcelona. The shipyard has a history of more than 1,000 years and in which there is a rule. Every ship that goes out from it has a model that is carved with the ship's result. There they have a special showroom to store these models. And on one wall of the showroom, there's an overview of the nearly 100,000 ships, 60,000 sank in the sea, 9,000 couldn't be repaired for serious damages, 60,000 were hit by countless disasters. No sea is calm forever and no ship experiences no storms. So are your lives...
