第二部分 阅读(共两节, 满分 50 分)

第一节 (共 15 小题; 每小题 2.5 分, 满分 37.5 分)

阅读下列短文, 从每题所给的 A、B、C、D 四个选项中选出最佳选项。

A

National Parks in Canada

Nahanni National Park

An adventure destination at the northern tip of the Earth and one of the first four Natural World Heritage Sites, the park covers an area of about 4,700 square kilometers. It is a vast, unexplored land, still preserving the original landscape of wilderness, mountains, canyons, and cliffs. There are countless roads in the world, but none of them reach there. You can only get into the park by small plane!

Best time: June to August.

Wood Buffalo National Park

As its name suggests, the park is a protected area for wood bison (美洲野牛). Thousands of wood bison live in the park, and many people come for them. It is the largest national park in Canada and the second largest in the world, with over 44,000 square kilometers of land bigger than Switzerland, where animals can play.

Best time: June to August.

Sambaa Deh Falls Territorial Park

Sambaa Deh Falls is a must visit! The rapids rolling between the rocks, the huge mist and the loud roar will take your breath away. Up the waterfall, there is also the beautiful Coral (珊瑚) Falls, and if Sambaa Deh Falls is a strong young man, Coral Falls is a beautiful young girl. Every year, a large number of coral fossils flow down the Coral Falls. Would you like to pick one up?

Best time: August and September.

Ivvavik National Park

Stretching from the British Mountains to the Arctic coast and ending with Alaska's Brooks Range, Ivvavik National Park is a wonderful expanse of mountainous district. Plus! The park also contains many cultural sites of great significance to the aboriginal (土著的) people of the North. You can find answers to your aboriginal curiosity here.

Best time: March and April.

21. Which park can only be reached by air?
A. Ivvavik National Park. B. Wood Buffalo National Park.
C. Sambaa Deh Falls Territorial Park. D. Nahanni National Park.
22. Which is the best time to visit Sambaa Deh Falls Territorial Park?
A. September. B. June. C. March. D. January.
23. What can visitors do at Ivvavik National Park?
A. Collect coral fossils. B. Watch the wood bison.
C. Experience aboriginal culture. D. Enjoy the beauty by plane.

P. T. Usha is an Indian athlete. Her success story is an inspiration to women all across the world.

She was born in a poor family in Kerala in 1964. She was unable to enjoy her childhood because of her family's poverty (贫穷). Usha was always interested in sports and took part in a variety of contests from a young age. She easily defeated the school champion, who was three years older than her, in a school race.

She received Rs. 250 scholarships from the Government of Kerala in 1976. Later coach OM Nambiar gave her an award in a match event. In an interview, he stated that he felt she had the ability to be a great short-distance runner. Usha began to train under his coaching. She won a variety of medals in the sports contests she competed in under his guidance. Usha won six medals at the interstate meet for juniors in 1978. She won 14 medals at the Kerala State College Meet. Usha had both the best and a little tough time during the 1984 Olympics.

At the games, she established new Commonwealth marks by running 56.81 seconds in the heats and 55.54 seconds in the semi-finals, and she advanced to the final. She finished fourth in the final with a time of 55.42 seconds. She was just 0.01 second slower than the bronze medalist.

Usha won six medals in the 1985 Jakarta Asian Championships, five gold and one bronze. She established a record for the most gold medals won at a single event in the championships' history. She won four gold medals in the Asian Games in 1986. She became the first woman president of Indian Olympic Association.

Many kinds of turtles (海龟) found in the Philippines are endangered. But now, the turtles have one less threat. Many people who used to collect their eggs to eat or to sell are now working to keep turtles safe.

Those people are called poachers (偷猎者). Now, however, protection organizations are teaching former poachers how to safely collect the eggs and protect them before they hatch (孵化). The people who do this are paid about 37 cents per egg. That is four times more than they would earn from selling them illegally.

One of the former poachers is Johnny Manlugay. "I've learned to love this work," he said, adding that he did not know it was illegal to eat turtle eggs and their meat. He now collects the eggs carefully and brings them to a group called Coastal Underwater Resource Management Actions (CURMA), which takes the eggs and puts them under the sand in a safe place. When the baby turtles hatch, they are directed to the water.

The turtles are called "pawikan" in the local language. They are at risk not only from poachers, but also climate change and habitat loss.

Carlos Tamayo is one of CURMA's leaders. "We talked to the poachers, and it turned out poaching was just another means for them to earn a living," he said. "They had no choice."

Cabagbag is over 40 years old. His wife and seven-year-old son sometimes help him collect turtle eggs. Since October, they have taken over 1,000 eggs to CURMA. Cabagbag said that once he received training and learned that the turtles were endangered, he stopped poaching.

When the baby turtles hatch, many visitors come to watch them run down the beach and into the water. Cabagbag said seeing the turtles get safely into the water brings him a feeling of joy.

28. What is one of the ways of the organizations to protect turtles?
- A. Teaching former poachers to collect and protect turtle eggs.
 - B. Getting the locals to receive more education.
 - C. Encouraging the locals to develop tourism.
 - D. Helping raise the locals' earnings.

29. What can be known about Johnny Manlugay?
- A. He helps place the eggs under the sand.
 - B. He encouraged his family to collect the eggs.
 - C. He has taken more than 1,000 eggs from CURMA.
 - D. He once lacked the awareness of protecting turtles.
30. Which threat to turtles is not mentioned in the text?
- A. Poachers.
 - B. Climate change.
 - C. Habitat loss.
 - D. Ocean pollution.
31. What can be the best title for the text?
- A. Turtles Are at Risk from Climate Change
 - B. Former Turtle Poachers Are Now Protectors
 - C. Turtle Population in the Philippines Is Changing
 - D. CURMA Is Offering Training of Turtle Protection to Farmers

D

Official figures show that 101 people were killed in road accidents on the streets of London last year. The city wants to reduce the number of deaths and serious injuries on the capital's roads to zero. It seems impossible. But it focuses more minds on an important question: What can help reduce accidents in a big city? Transport for London (TfL), the capital's road and rail authority, has some answers: safe speeds, safe vehicles and so on.

A safety standard for Heavy Goods Vehicles (HGVs), which harnesses blind area cameras and sensors (传感器), is pioneering. Blind area cameras and sensors are widely placed where they are needed. The European Commission has followed it. TfL has also helpfully identified London's most dangerous places. Half of Britain's most dangerous roads run through the capital. Around three-quarters of accidents that cause deaths or serious injuries happen at crossing near the British Museum, which has been the site of the most deaths since 2012. Westminster is the most dangerous area for walkers and cyclists, so it introduced 20 mph speed limits on all its roads in 2021.

"Vision Zero" was launched in 2018. Deaths and serious injuries on London's roads have fallen—by 53% and 40% respectively in 2022. But movement is not one-way. Deaths were record-breakingly low in 2020 and 2021. But in 2022 the deaths rose again. "We are moving in the right direction," says Will Norman, London's walking and cycling commissioner.

Lack of funds for TfL has put off improving the riskiest areas. Only a few parts of the 1010 Avenue have bike paths with guardrails (护栏). Safety is the biggest problem to people taking up cycling or letting their children walk or cycle. But greener vehicles may be unsafe themselves. Electric scooters (滑板车) are the latest ones to confuse planners. "One of those doing 50 mph down the road is not good for anybody," said Mr Norman.

32. What is the author's purpose in writing paragraph 1?
- A. To call on scientists to study the question.

- B. To give some background information.
 C. To stress the importance of Tfl.
 D. To make the article interesting.
33. What does the underlined word “harnesses” mean in paragraph 2?
 A. Replaces. B. Removes. C. Uses. D. Compares.
34. What is the Will Norman’s attitude to the “Vision Zero”?
 A. Unclear. B. Doubtful. C. Puzzled. D. Supportive.
35. What does the author intend to tell us in the last paragraph?
 A. Bike lanes are not safe anymore for riders on roads.
 B. Children should think twice when taking up cycling.
 C. Safety has been a problem for some eco-friendly vehicles.
 D. Electric scooters have become the biggest confusion for planners.

第二节 (共 5 小题;每小题 2.5 分,满分 12.5 分)

阅读下面短文,从短文后的选项中选出可以填入空白处的最佳选项。选项中有两项为多余选项。

Communication is a way of putting across one’s ideas and opinions and listening to those of the others. Many people understand the importance of communication and want to communicate their points to the other people. However, they are unable to do so. 36 Here are a few ways to communicate effectively.

Avoid interruption. Interruption can be extremely impolite. 37 Constantly interrupting the other person can make them wander from the point and the conversation can take a different turn.

Listen patiently. Healthy conversation requires listening patiently as much as it requires putting one’s point across. In order to communicate effectively, you must first listen to what the other person has to say.

38 Your body language speaks volumes about you. It is essential to keep your body language warm and friendly rather than arrogant (傲慢的). Many people unintentionally give a wrong message through their body language. If you are not sure, then it is a good idea to learn the art of body language.

Don’t go overboard (过火) with your point. 39 It is not to prove that your point is correct and the other person is wrong. Many people try to win the conversation which is absolutely wrong. It leads to unnecessary arguments and conflicts (冲突).

Watch your words. Before you say something to someone make sure you know what you are saying. At times, out of anger or anxiousness, we say things that we must not say. Remember, words once spoken cannot be taken back. 40

- A. Watch your body language.
 B. Two-way communication is important.
 C. This is because they lack good communication skills.
 D. It is thus suggested not to say something you might regret later.

- E. So, it is essential to understand the importance of communication.
 F. The reason behind conversation is to let the other person know what you feel.
 G. It is essential to let the other person complete his point before you make yours.

Li Hua

第二节 (满分 25 分)

阅读下面材料,根据其内容和所给段落开头语续写两段,使之构成一篇完整的短文。

Everyone can help their community in their little way, just like David did.

The young barber likes to give back to his community by providing free haircuts to residents in his community and sharing nice conversations with them.

But it was different when it was time for Lucy's haircut. The young barber remembered Lucy, a young lady living beside community park, and how he watched her work day after day when he was younger. At the back of his mind, David always knew he would do something for this hardworking lady someday.

Armed with a chair and his haircutting tools, David set up a sidewalk shop and gave a free haircut to his neighbourhood.

While Lucy came to have a haircut, she shared how it had been hard for her and her family. She lost loved ones. Lucy was ill herself, and being sick meant not being able to work for almost two months.

To help Lucy and other residents in the neighbourhood, David gave Lucy $100 in cash and set up a GoFundMe account.

Lucy truly appreciated the behaviour and still got emotional whenever she recalled that memorable free haircut and cash gift. It warmed her heart to know that a young man like David listened to what she had to say and lent her a hand.

But this was not where the heartwarming story between David and Lucy ended. Ever since that summer, David realized that he still had more surprises to give the neighbourhood, particularly to Lucy.

David had noticed that Lucy was hiding her smile whenever they talked. She didn't dare to smile widely because of her teeth, which, according to her, were kind of ugly.

Lucy shared how often she would get comments from her customers about her teeth. One time, a young customer just lost his tooth, and Lucy joked that both of them didn't have teeth.

注意:

1. 续写词数应为 150 左右;
2. 请按如下格式在答题卡的相应位置作答。

However, David decided to change that.

Lucy had never seen a dentist (牙医) before.

听力部分录音材料

听力部分。该部分分为第一、第二两节。

注意:做题时,先将答案标在试卷上。录音内容结束后,你将有两分钟的时间将试卷上的答案涂到答题卡上。

停顿 00'10"

现在是听力试音时间。

M: Hello. International Friends Club. Can I help you?

W: Oh, hello. I read about your club in the paper today and I thought I'd phone to find out a bit more.

M: Yes, certainly. Well, we are a sort of social club for people from different countries. It's quite a new club—we have about 50 members at the moment, but we are growing all the time.

W: That sounds interesting. I'm British actually, and I came to Washington about three months ago. I'm looking for ways to meet people. Er, what kinds of events do you organize?

M: Well, we have social get-togethers, and sports events, and we also have language evenings.

W: Could you tell me something about the language evenings?

M: Yes. Every day except Thursday we have a language evening. People can come and practice their languages—you know, over a drink or something. We have different languages on different evenings. Monday—Spanish; Tuesday—Italian; Wednesday—German; and Friday—French. On Thursday we usually have a meal in a restaurant for anyone who wants to come.

W: Well, that sounds great. I really need to practice my French.

M: OK. Well, if you can just give me your name and address, I'll send you the form and some more information. If you join now, you can have the first month free.

(Text 8)

M: Hey, Jenny. You look tired. What's wrong with you?

W: I had an appointment with the doctor the other day. She told me that I was stressed out. She said I needed to relax. She said too much stress can cause high blood pressure and all sorts of problems.

M: Well, you don't want that. What do you think caused it?

W: I think it's because I have changed my job. You know, when you start a new job, you have to learn so much. I think that's the main cause of the problem.

M: Did the doctor give you any medicine to take?

W: No, actually she gave me some pretty strange advice. She said I could get a pet, maybe a dog. Taking care of it would take my mind off my work. So I'm going to give it a try. I've always wanted a dog, anyway.

M: Good luck with you.

M: What job are you going to take in the future?

W: I want to become a lawyer. Actually, I've already made preparations for it. I began my studies last September in a university.

M: What are you going to do when you finish the studies in the university?

W: I'll go back to my hometown and practice some time there.

M: Is English a must in your job?

W: No, but learning to speak English will be useful in many ways.

M: What made you decide to take up law as a career?

W: I am good at debate and I have a certain feeling for this career. Besides, my teacher encouraged me and said I had a gift for law. But most importantly, it is my personal qualities that made me choose law.

M: Wish you to succeed!

W: Thank you.

(Text 10)

W: My winter holiday came to the end. It almost lasted a month, but I felt I just had a week off. How time flies. I had a wonderful vacation. Or exactly, I had a wonderful Spring Festival. On the first two days of my vacation, I started doing my homework, because I knew if I didn't work on my study, I couldn't have a great Spring Festival later on. So I made up my mind to finish my homework before the Spring Festival. How wonderful the expected festival was! My house was full of laughter and happiness. My families and relatives gave me some lucky money and wished me to make progress on my study. I also hung out with friends in the street. When the atmosphere of the Spring Festival was just fading away, the Lantern Festival was coming soon. After that, I didn't have too much holiday time left. Three days later, I went back to school for my new term. I am very happy that I had a wonderful and unforgettable holiday.

第一节

参考范文:

Dear David,

How are you getting along? I, on behalf of my school, will have a golden chance to deliver an English speech about Chinese classics to our international students to promote their understanding of Chinese literature. Since you are a keen reader, I would like to seek your valuable advice on which Chinese classics are more appealing to foreign friends like you.

Your perspective as a foreign student will undoubtedly be beneficial to my speech. I would be extremely grateful if you could share your valuable thoughts to help me prepare for the speech.

Thank you for your assistance in advance. Looking forward to your early reply.

Yours,
Li Hua

第二节

参考范文：

However, David decided to change that. Although he regularly showed up in the neighbourhood to provide free haircuts to the neighbourhood, David had also been busy arranging for Lucy to receive a new set of teeth. He reached out to a dentist, Dr. Sofia Rodriguez, who felt it a must to help after learning about Lucy's past and current situation. David drove Lucy to her dental appointment and made sure that his friend wouldn't pay for anything to get her much-needed false teeth.

Lucy had never seen a dentist (牙医) before. So it was important for David to accompany his friend to her appointment at a clinic where they spoke Spanish so Lucy would be comfortable. Now, Lucy feels more confident and doesn't hesitate to give everyone her new winning smile, which she is still getting used to. David understands the importance of gratitude, and he's so grateful to the people that have been supporting him in this little project to give back to the community.
