听力材料

第一节

请听下面 5 段对话，选出最佳选项。

(Text 1)

M: Do you know any information about this afternoon's radio programs?

W: Yes. There will be no afternoon show at 1:15 and the 2:15 World Music program will start at the later time of 3:15.

(Text 2)

W: Did the weather affect your sports charity event on Sunday?

M: Yes, it was not as good as I expected. Most of the races went ahead as planned, but we didn't get as many people turning up.

(Text 3)

W: I hear you're moving, Bill!

M: Yeah. Dad's going to the center for his new job, so we need to move closer to the station. The house is not big enough but it costs a fortune to rent.

(Text 4)

W: What did the geography teacher ask us to do this weekend?

M: We need to write up the work we did on coastal areas last week. He said we can present different aspects of this topic — the landscape.

(Text 5)

W: Peter! At last! So how did you get here?

M: By subway. Oh, this place looks a bit dark. Do we really want to eat here?

W: Well, there's a better restaurant down the street, if you'd rather go to that. It's right by Benton's grocery store.

第二节 请听下面 5 段对话或独白，选出最佳选项。

(Text 6)

请听第 6 段材料，回答第 6、7 题。

W: Did you try that new gym recently? It made a new rule saying that customers would face fines of up to 100 euros if caught smoking in the gym.

M: Wow, that's big money, but it's understandable.

W: Yes. But I wouldn't go there again. The stuff they've got there is quite advanced.

M: It's probably for people with more experience.

W: But the atmosphere was fun. The music they were playing made you work harder.

(Text 7)

请听第 7 段材料，回答第 8、9 题。

W: Leo, do you still volunteer these days?

M: Yes, I just joined Meals on Wheels. It's on a mission to meet the nutritional and social needs of seniors. More than 225 million meals have been delivered so far.

W: Could you recommend me some other volunteer organizations? I also want to make a difference in our community.

M: Certainly. There is American Red Cross, Key Club and DoSomething.

W: Do you know of any organizations that take care of dogs and cats?

M: Yes. The Humane Society. With them, you can help out at a local shelter.

(Text 8)

请听第 8 段材料, 回答第 10 至 12 题。

W: Tom, you really sound like an American. So were you born in the US?

M: No. I was born in Singapore and grew up in China where my parents worked.

W: Did you study in an international school?

M: No. Actually my English pronunciation was very bad at first.

W: So how did you manage to speak English like a native American?

M: Well, in order to improve my pronunciation, I often recorded myself with my phone when practicing pronunciation. When I struggled with a word, I often found a TV show, movie or YouTube video where a native speaker uses it in a sentence. I then listened to the pronunciation a few times, and then recorded myself saying it.

W: Wasn't that boring?

M: A bit, but it really worked.

(Text 9)

请听第 9 段材料, 回答第 13 至 16 题。

W: Steven, can you tell us how you got into singing?

M: OK. I started to like singing when I was little. My uncle used to play in a band. I tried to persuade him to let me sing in his band but he would have none of it. I started writing songs when I was about twelve. A famous singer liked one of the songs I wrote. He asked me to go to his studio and he recorded it. It was him who made me start my career as a singer. His support was greatly appreciated.

W: You went to an art school, didn't you?

M: Right. The classes were good. I had some brilliant teachers. They offered us plenty of chances to get out on stage. I learned a lot there. So I really liked it.

W: Are you working on your new album now?

M: Yes. I got lots of ideas for it while I was doing tours in Asia and Europe, so there are some different influences coming into play. I'm sure it'll be a big hit.

W: Great! And your immediate plans?

M: Well, there's nothing I'd like more than to spend some time with friends. But actually I'm going to be on tour promoting my new album at lots of summer music festivals. It'll be fun.

(Text 10)

请听第 10 段材料, 回答第 17 至 20 题。

Unlike most commercial songs or movies, popular novels vary greatly in length. Most of the books have words ranging from 16,000 to 250,000 words. If there is an upper limit to how long novels can be, Marcel Proust reached it at the turn of the 20th century. His story In Search of Lost Time has nearly 1.3 million words, making it the world's longest book. The French writer's masterwork tells the story of his life. But many editors didn't accept it. Then Proust used his own money to have the first volume released by the Grasset publishing house in 1913. The full novel was published in 13 volumes. The last volume didn't come out until fourteen years after the first one. Though it's split up into many volumes, In Search of Lost Time is considered the longest novel ever published by Guinness World Records. This was determined by the book's impressive character count. In some editions, the total page count is over 3,000. So if you're interested in reading the book, give it a try. You may find it very difficult to finish reading it, but it is well worth reading.
