应用文写作:

Saving Water

World Water Day falls on March 22 every year, which arouses people's awareness of water saving.

For one thing, water resources are limited. Most of the water on the earth is sea water, which is salty and cannot be used directly. For another, we have wasted plenty of water during our daily life. Much water can be taken better advantage of.

Therefore, we should spare no effort to save water. We should turn off the tap in time and recycle the water. Meanwhile, our government should take measures to deal with the issue. Only in these ways can we protect our water resources.

So I tied myself to a barrel and jumped into the sea. Seeing what I did, my brother also found a barrel. After he finished tying, I shouted to him, "Jump!" Without waiting, he jumped into the sea and we tried hard to escape. We couldn't see anything in the sea. The only thing we could do is try our best to swim away from the whirlpool. Some time after we left the boat, it was pulled into the bottom of the whirlpool. Soon after that, the whirlpool became less wild.

Then the sky was clear, the wind calmer, and the sun was shining. We were still tied to the barrels and the waves soon carried us to an area where the other fishermen were. In the end, a boat picked us up. We were very tired. The fishermen were our old friends, but they were unable to recognize us. When we told them our story, they looked astonished and in disbelief. Then I told them what observations I made. They all praised my calmness and carefulness. From this experience, I learned that no matter how dangerous the situation is, stay calm and observe carefully, then we can find the solution.
