One possible version:

Dear David,

I'm very happy that you're interested in Chinese folk arts. It happens that a kite festival will be held in my hometown next Saturday, and you will have a good chance to taste one of them.

It is believed that the kite was invented in ancient China. Making and flying kites has now become a tradition and is very popular among both old and young.

The festival is held to pass down the traditional craft to younger generations. Free materials are provided for people to make their kites, such as bamboo sticks, color paper and strings. People will then compete to see whose kite is the cutest or flies the highest.

We will meet at 7:00 am at our school gate and take a bus to get there.

Yours

Li Hua
