Dear Jenny,

I feel greatly honored to inform you of the good news on behalf of the Organizing Committee. Congratulations to you on your winning the first prize!

Your excellent performance left a deep impression on me as well as the judges! It came as no surprise that you won the contest. You deserve it. Besides, we would like to invite you to deliver a short speech on how to learn Chinese for foreign students at the award ceremony. Can you make it? Hope for your reply at your earliest convenience.

Yours sincerely,

Li Hua

第二节 读后续写 参考范文

I drove to the animal shelter and was led to the kennels (狗舍) by a keeper. Each cage contained five to seven dogs. Long-haired dogs, curly-haired dogs, black dogs and spotted dogs all jumped up, trying to reach me. I studied each one but rejected one after another for various reasons: too big, too small, too much hair and so on. As I approached an old dog, his eyes caught my attention. Calm and clear, they were telling me that he was waiting for my arrival. I made an immediate decision that I would bring it home for Dad.

"Dad! Look what I got for you, Dad!" I said excitedly. Dad, however, wasn't that excited as I had expected. With days going by, he accepted the new family member gradually. He even named the dog Cherry, with whom he spent long hours walking down the country road, exploring the community. Cherry grew to be an inseparable companion throughout the next three years. Dad's bitterness faded, his enthusiasm for life restored. Dick and I were happy to find our "former" Dad back. The special experience enlightened me that company is the most important for the elderly.
