第二节: 书面表达

Time has witnessed great changes in my hometown, which makes me exactly proud.

In the past, there were very few tall buildings and cars in the streets. However, not only are new facilities such as shopping malls, restaurants and places of entertainment springing up everywhere now, but more people are living and working in peace and contentment. With the improvement of basic education as well as the government's strong guarantee for economic development, people are better educated and build their careers. As a consequence, the opportunities for young people to develop their talents and contribute to society have also increased rapidly.

In brief, I firmly believe that under the leadership of the socialist modernization of our motherland, my hometown will move towards a better future.

M: I am really struggling with a headache today and I cannot concentrate. I have to see the doctor.

Can you finish this report for me?

W: Yes, sure. But have you told our manager about it?

Text 2

W: Excuse me. Does the park close at 6:00 p.m.?

M: It's Sunday today, so it shuts at 7:00 p.m. It stays open one hour longer on weekends.

Text 3

M: What can I do for you, madam?

W: Yes. My daughter likes the chocolate cake very much, but she has to go on a diet to keep healthy. Do you have vegetable pie and brown bread?

Text 4

W: Anything to drink, sir? We have apple and orange juice.

M: Do you have lemon juice?

W: Absolutely, sir. You can sit over there. I'll bring it to you in a minute.

Text 5

W: There were three frogs in the pond last night, but now I can't see any.

M: They can't have jumped away. Perhaps they are under the water?

W: It's more likely that they are hiding in the grass.

Text 6

M: I think I'm going to have a lazy morning as I've been working so hard recently.

W: Well, so have I! I wouldn't mind a rest, but while you're lying there in bed, the dishes still need to be cleaned. The clothes you want to wear next week still need to be washed as well.

Plus, the bathroom toilet isn't going to clean itself!

M: OK, I get the message. ⑦ Just give me another hour and I'll sweep the kitchen floor.

W: ⑧⑨ Hi, Mr. Ryan. I know you made your decision for your team's players. But why wasn't I chosen?

M: ⑧⑨ Oh, Lily. I'm sorry about this. You showed so much excitement during our practice.

⑨ But 45 players wanted to join the volleyball team, and only 15 could make it.

W: I understand. I was so stressed from schoolwork during that practice. I know I can play better!

M: I'm sure of it, Lily. Teachers say you're a top student in your high school, and I know you're a talented athlete. I wish I could give you another chance to try out, but the list of players is set.

W: I see. What could I do for the next fall?

M: This time next year, there will be fewer players competing.

⑩ Now, I'll mark down a list of training activities you can practice until then. Do you have a pen?

M: ⑪ Hey Lisa, nice to run into you. How are you doing?

W: ⑪ Hi John. I'm good. Thank you. It's strange not seeing you in the office any more. How is the new job?

M: So far, so good. It's really flexible. I can work whenever I want, as long as it can be finished on time. I usually start late and finish late. So I miss the morning traffic.

W: That sounds nice. We haven't got a right person to replace you by now. So it is making my job twice as hard.

M: Oh, I'm sorry to hear that. ⑫ By the way, is Kelly still there?

W: Oh no, she left soon after you. She is working at the opposite side of the city now. I will tell her you asked about her. ⑫ I meet her every Saturday.

M: OK, thanks. I'd better get going. My wife is expecting me for dinner. Take care. W: You too, John.

W:④I'm traveling to India in September. I'm going to do some volunteer work for a wildlife charity, helping to save lions.

M:⑤Lions? Don't they live in Africa?

W:⑤ Most do. But there are a few Asian lions living in a place called Gir Forest, in India. M: Asian lions? I've never heard of them! Are you sure they are real?

W: Ha-ha!Yes, of course I am.In fact, Asian lions once lived across southern Europe, the Middle East and southern Asia.⑥But, by the start of the 20th century, most of them had been hunted.Only no more than 20 Asian lions were left in western India.

M: That's so sad! How many Asian lions are there today?

W:About 600. That's still not that many, but it's much better than it once was. They are such incredible animals.I just want to help in some small way. That's why I'm going there in two months

M: That's very admirable of you! What else is there in Gir Forest?

W:Oh, there's various wildlife, including monkeys, deer, other big cats, and over 400 species of birds!

M: That sounds just like your sort of place! ⑦How long are you staying there?

W: ⑦ Three months, so I'll be telling you all about my adventures in December!
