W: How much is the pair of red shoes?

M: It was 300 yuan a pair last month. But this month you can pay 20 yuan less for a pair.

Text 2

M: If I were you, I'd take the subway to work. Cycling in that rush hour traffic is terrible and takes too long.

W: But by the time the subway gets to my stop, there aren't any seats left.

Text 3

W: Sorry! I had to finish some paper work at the office. Then the traffic was heavy.

M: You should have called me. The dinner is cold now.

Text 4

M: Hello, may I help you?

W: I'd like to send this package to California.

M: Would you like to send it overnight or by regular mail?

W: I'd like it to get there tomorrow.

Text 5

M: Excuse me, Madam? Can I move a little closer to the front? Nobody is sitting there.

W: I'm sorry. I'm afraid those seats have already been reserved. The people who will sit there should be arriving shortly.

M: Hi, Dorothy. I bet you had an impressive birthday yesterday.

W: Oh, yes, Carl. Mary's is around the corner too, right?

M: I remember that. It's the day after tomorrow.

W: Let's go and buy her a present. Here is a good shop. What should we buy her?

M: What about a dress? Look, there are some beautiful dresses in the window.

W: Oh, they look expensive. I think they are more than we can afford.

M: Well, let's buy her some chocolate. Her favorite, you know.

W: That's not a bad idea. Let's go in and have a close look.

M: So many impressive things are happening right now in our country. China is right at the top of so many brilliant ideas and talented designs. From smartphones to bridges, it's a great time for us. Our business is a part of this amazing growth. We're attracting talent at home and abroad. We're getting some of the best people here.

W: But Mr. Lee, we're just a small company. In fact, we only have one foreign employee, and it's our front desk attendant Boonsri from Thailand.

M: You're right about that, Ms. Chen. But I've just hired two more people to join our team—one from England, and the other from Russia.

W: Just in time!

M: Now, now, Ms. Chen. We all know you have a great sense of humor, but I'm trying to have a serious discussion with you about the great future of our company!

M: Can I help you?

W: Yes, I want to find a place to stay for a few days.

M: Well, there are some good hotels. Royal Oak is near the main square in the city center, but you might also be interested in the Bridge Hotel. It's in the countryside, about ten kilometers away and very peaceful. Then there is the Carlton House—it's in town but not in the center. It is out on the airport road.

W: Hmm, that might be a bit far, actually. OK, now the one you mentioned, in the city center. Can you tell me a bit about it?

M: Well, it is quite unusual—it used to be a large private house. It was bought by the Venice chain and they completely redecorated it. That's a five-star hotel.

W: Does it have a swimming pool?

M: No. The Bridge Hotel has an indoor pool, which is lovely in summer, but the only hotel with an outdoor pool is the Carlton House.

W: I see. Well, I think I'll probably go to Royal Oak.

M: Morning, Lisa, I know you are one of a few women taxi drivers in our city, and you've been driving for a living for 12 years. Most women drivers may find it difficult to judge direction and distance. Could you tell us what you found the most difficult?

W: I can still remember when I was first learning to drive, I didn't know how to use car-hailing app, where a customer orders a customised ride online. That's very scary.

M: Then, what's the best part of your job?

W: What I like best about the job is being outdoors, seeing how this city changes from season to season. And there are places of scenery I would probably have never seen in another job.

M: Now, what about annual leave?

W: When I first started, I had only 10 days. Now I have 3 weeks every year with pay.

M: Just out of curiosity, when you go on vacation to another place or city, do you drive there as well?

W: In most cases, not. I prefer to be driven by others if I go by car. I would also prefer to go by train or plane, if there is a choice.

M: Now my last question. Have you ever thought of changing your job?

W: Not yet. Maybe I will someday, but not at this moment. I do get lots of satisfaction out of it. So why should I?

M: OK. Our interview is coming to an end. Thank you very much for your time, Lisa.

W: My pleasure.

W: Ladies and gentlemen, welcome to Cheston. Cheston is believed to be one of the most beautiful places for concert in West England. Throughout the whole summer, Cheston holds an internationally famous concert festival in a beautiful countryside background. The stage for the performances is surrounded by the charming 18th-century architecture, which is more than perfect for classic music. However, what attracts our audience most is that everyone is seated less than twenty feet from the performers. This short distance from the performers can make the audience more involved in the music.

Now, I would like to say a few words about the concert festival itself. Cheston Concert Festival is an annual summer event. It is a charity activity to promote the appreciation of performing arts in West England. The Festival aims to benefit
