C

Before you worry about bacon and how much it may cost when new animal welfare laws go into effect next year, let's talk about the pigs that gave their lives for it.

California has been on the forefront of protecting animals who live short lives on factory farms either to produce food for us or to be slaughtered and sold as food. The latest advance came in November 2018, when 62.7% of the state's voters supported Proposition 12, the Prevention of Cruelty to Farm Animals Act. The law began going into effect last year, requiring hens and veal calves to be given more space to live in. Starting on Jan. 1st, the law will require that all eggs sold in California come from cage-free hens and that pork sold in the state come from breeding pigs that are not held in cages. These are humane steps designed to lift these animals out of structures that barely allow them to move.

Pork producers have had the longest time to comply(遵守). Some big companies like Hormel Foods have pledged to do so fully, but others have spent the last few years fighting the law rather than figuring out how to put it into practice. They say that the law will significantly raise the price of pork and that it violates the Commerce Clause of the Constitution, which gives Congress sole power over interstate business activity. So far, that fight has been a waste of time that pork producers could have better spent figuring out how to retrofit(翻新) their farms.

They also complain that the regulations on the law are not set. But the California Department of Food and Agriculture, which has yet to finalize the regulations, says that the delay should not have prevented producers from retrofitting their housing for breeding pigs. The agency has publicly posted draft regulations, which mostly concern record-keeping, certification and definitions of terms.

For fans of bacon and other pork, any rise in cost is the price of not having a pig suffer before it's killed for food. It's a price the animals shouldn't have to pay.

28. What do we know about Proposition 12?
 A. The law will come into force next year.
 B. More space is required for raising hens and pigs.
 C. Raising hens and pigs in limited space is humane.
 D. Half of the state's voters subscribed to Proposition 12.
29. What does the underlined word "pledged" in paragraph 3 mean?
 A. Suspect. B. Refuse. C. Promise. D. Hesitate.
30. Which of the following is TRUE according to paragraph 3?
 A. Some pork producers have raised the price of pork.
 B. All the pork producers don't comply with the law.
 C. Pork producers have wasted a lot of time retrofitting their farms.
 D. Pork producers resist the Commerce Clause of the Constitution.

31. Which word can best describe the author's attitude to the new animal welfare laws?

- A. Skeptical. B. Conservative C. Tolerant. D. Favorable.

Tina Brigham, a 50-year-old store owner from a suburb of Washington, DC, wrestled with the puzzles while waiting for customers. "If it's a 30-minute puzzle, I try to figure it out in 12," she said. After several years, she found she could easily put together employee work schedules in her head. "A lot of stores use an electronic scheduling tool, but I have all the data in my mind," she said. "I think my brain seems sharper and more focused because of the game."

The games do seem to work. In one 2020 study, Gary Small, chair of psychiatry at Hackensack University Medical Center, found that 1,091 women and men who frequently played cards, bingo, or did crossword puzzles had sharper thinking and memory skills — equivalent to an IQ up to 5.6 points higher — than those who rarely did. The study doesn't prove that the puzzles directly led to the higher IQs, but it does show that even people who increased their game-playing in their 70s seemed to get brain benefits within a few years.

Exactly how games sharpen memory and cognitive function is still something of a mystery. But advances in neuroimaging(神经影像学) allow researchers to study how the brain reacts to all sorts of outside stimulation. Small later included 60 women and men completing Latin squares. As the puzzles grew more difficult with fewer clues, players slowed down and made more mistakes. That's when he discovered something surprising: More regions of the brain got involved, especially in the prefrontal cortex(前额叶皮质区), an area involved with problem-solving, judgment, and memory.

Small suggests that if you find yourself debating whether to spend the next 20 minutes taking a walk or playing a brain game, you should choose the walk. Physical activity can help deliver oxygen and fuel to your brain cells. "If you do one thing to help your brain, I'd say it's exercise," he says. "Getting good sleep and keep a balanced diet are also important. Brain games work best as part of a whole package of brain-healthy strategies." And remember: A little fun never hurts.

32. How does the author introduce the topic in paragraph 1?

- A. By sharing a story. B. By comparing facts.
C. By report findings. D. By presenting figures.

33. What can we know from Gary Small's study?

- A. Puzzles directly leads to higher IQs.
B. People in their 70s benefit more from brain games.
C. How games sharpen minds has not been clearly understood.
D. Physical activities play an equally important role as brain games.

34. Why does the author mention good sleep and a healthy diet in the last paragraph?

- A. To advocate good sleep and a balanced diet.
B. To advise what we should do to keep healthy.
C. To stress the importance of good sleep and a healthy diet.
D. To explain that brain games function best as part of brain-healthy strategies.

35. What is the main idea of the text?

- A. Puzzles make brains sharp and focused.
B. Physical activities play an important role in sharp thinking.
C. Brain games are beneficial to memory skills and cognitive function.
D. Sharp memory and cognitive function depend largely on brain games.

第二节：（共 5 小题；每小题 2.5 分，满分 12.5 分）

根据短文内容，从短文后的选项中选出能填入空白处的最佳选项。选项中有两处为多余选项。

The China State Council issued a document in early August, suggesting employers across the country make flexible working arrangements and give their workers Friday afternoons off during hot summer days in order to boost tourism and consumption.

Online surveys have shown that most correspondents are in favor of the State Council's proposal for longer weekends, as two and a half days are enough even for one to plan a short journey. People will have more time to be together with their families. 36

However, there are doubts as to whether this well-intentioned initiative can be put into practice. 37 While the regular two-day weekend is still a dream for a large number of working people in various industries, a two-and-half-day weekend is really a luxury many people can barely afford.

38 If staff workers of government departments and public institutions no longer work on Friday afternoons, local residents will have nowhere to go if they have urgent issues to solve through these establishments.

Obviously, the only way out is to implement policies concerning paid annual leave in a realistic manner so that the working people can make arrangements for their days off work. As a result, holidaymakers don't need to all rush to the same scenic spots during the same period of time, which would be beneficial to the protection and operation of these spots. 39 Thus it serves the initial purpose of boosting economic growth through developing tourism.

40 The government is supposed to pay more attention to the protection of labor rights and employ all possible means to ensure their holidays as well as the functions of government institutions, instead of just making economically motivated policies.

- A. Also, this is an effective way to increase consumer spending.
- B. The right of workers to rest and paid annual leave are protected under the law.
- C. A larger number of workers, if not all, will benefit from official holiday arrangements.
- D. Most people think that they will actually not be able to enjoy the benefits of such a scheme.
- E. After rest and relaxation, employees will become more energetic when they come back to work.
- F. Another worry is that this measure will finally be exclusively(专有地) enjoyed by a limited number of employees.
- G. As long as paid annual leave remains unrealistic in most industrial sectors, the two-and-half-day weekend seems pointless.

第 II 卷

阅读下面短文，在空白处填入 1 个适当的单词括号内单词的正确形式。

The first domestic chickens we have found lived no earlier than 3,670 years ago, suggesting they have a far shorter history than we thought. These birds don't seem to have been raised for their meat, 56 (make) it unclear what drove domestication. The chickens alive today descend from a wild bird native to South-East Asia 57 (call) the red jungle fowl, but exactly 58 domestication occurred was unclear. Some researchers have estimated that the first domestic chicken lived more than 6000 years ago, while others claim 59 (find) chicken bones at 10,000-year-old sites. 60 analysis by Ophélie Lebrasseur at the Centre for Anthropobiology and Genomics of Toulouse in France and her team concludes that the 61 (early) clear evidence of domestic chickens appeared between 1,650 BC and 1,250 BC at a site called Ban Non Wat in central Thailand. Not only 62 (be) chicken bones superabundant at the site, but there are signs that people were buried with the birds, 63 Lebrasseur says makes a domestic relationship clear. Lebrasseur and her team suspect chicken domestication might have been triggered by the 64 (appear) of cereal farming in South-East Asia. "This created a more open, less tree-covered environment, which is actually an environment where red jungle fowl thrive," she says, "And they could have fed 65 the waste from human societies."

第四部分：写作

第一节：应用文写作（满分 15 分）

假定你是新华中学李华，你的外籍朋友 Michael 来信表示对中国文化很感兴趣，正巧这学期你校要开设“话说中国节(Festive China)”的线上课程，请你回信向他推荐此课程。内容包括：

1. 开设时间；
2. 课程内容；
3. 报名方式。

注意：

1. 词数 80 左右；
2. 可适当增加细节，以使行文连贯。

第二节：读后续写（满分 25 分）

阅读下面的材料，根据其内容和所给段落开头语续写两段，使之构成一篇完整的短文。

I had a dream from primary school: to work in television. My parents owned a little grocery store, so we were definitely not fancy people. Thankfully, my dad had raised me to have a lot of confidence. He often said, "You can do anything you want to do." My dad was particularly supportive. He was my steady rock — always there for me.

With his help and encouragement, I was admitted to the radio and television arts program at Ryerson in Toronto. I really loved the program and worked hard and I was named the most outstanding graduate. I felt like I was already living my dream. I began to think that maybe I could apply for an internship(实习资格) in CBC or CTV.

Luckily, Global Television had just started broadcasting in Canada that year. I thought to myself: I'm new and they're new, so if I'm going to get to know one person at Global, it might as well be the president. I was scared, but I knew deep down inside that this was what I wanted. When I called my dad and told him my plan, he said, "Good, Faye. That's exactly what you should do."

With my heart just about pounding out of my body, I called up the president of Global Television. Suddenly Mr. Slight was on the phone. "I've heard that your studio facilities are amazing. I could come at eleven o'clock on Monday or eleven o'clock on Sunday for a tour. What would suit you better?" I caught him totally off guard. He stuttered a bit, and then picked a day. When I hung up, I was scared but excited.

I arrived at the studio on the appointed day. When Mr. Slight took me around, he looked at me and said, "What do you want?" He sounded furious but curious. "All I want is a chance to audition(试镜). I just want you to know my face. That's all I'm asking."

I didn't know whether I'd ever hear from him again, but two weeks later, his secretary called, "Mr. Slight wants to know if you'd like to come and audition for a new school life show." I immediately answered, "Sure!"

注意：1. 续写词数应为 150 左右；2. 请按如下格式在答题卡的相应位置作答。

Paragraph 1:

When I arrived at the station, I went direct into the audition and began my short performance. _____

Paragraph 2:

Finally came the day of my first public appearance on live TV with my parents at home watching. _____

1—5 ABBCB 6—10 BCCAC 11—15 ABACA 16—20 BBCCA

第二部分：阅读理解（共两节，满分 50 分）

第一节：（共 15 小题，每小题 2.5 分，满分 37.5 分）

【解题导语】本文是一篇说明文，介绍了 4 本适合儿童阅读的书。

21. C 考查细节理解。The Boy Who Grew a Tree 一书适合 5 岁及以上的孩子阅读，故 C 项正确。
22. B 考查细节理解。A 选项中，此书是 of nonfiction，所以错误；C 选项中，Timi 得知妈妈怀孕的心情是 unsettled，不安的；D 选项中，四本书里都有图画，所以错误。故 B 项正确。
23. D 考查推理判断。本文介绍 4 本适合儿童阅读的书，所以最有可能在教育板块，故 D 项正确。

B

【解题导语】本文是一篇记叙文。挪威慈善团体 SOS 儿童村发起冬日行动，为筹集更多捐赠给叙利亚儿童送冬日的的生活必需品。

24. C 考查细节理解。由第七段的“Johanne’s predicament was a hidden camera experiment by ... as part of ... to gather donations to send much-needed coats and blankets to help Syrian children get through the winter.”可知，Johanne 之所以在冬日寒风中瑟瑟发抖是在做一个实验，实验的目的是要帮助叙利亚儿童过冬，故 C 项正确。
25. A 考查词义判断。结合第二段普通人目睹的“the difficult situation of...”和第七段的“Johanne’s predicament”可知挪威慈善团体 SOS 是要通过 Johannes 窘境的实验唤起人们的同情心给叙利亚儿童捐赠冬日的的生活必需品，故 A 项正确。
26. B 考查推理判断。文章最后一段中 Synne Running 的原话是：“People should care as much about children in Syria as they care about this boy.”意思是人们应该给与叙利亚儿童和这个孩子一样多的关爱。从“should”这个用词可见，故 B 项正确。
27. D 考查主旨大意。文章讲述的是一个实验，寒冬里一个小男孩没有穿外套，他在寒冷中瑟瑟发抖，实验者用摄像机记录记录人们看到小男孩窘境的反应，然后由此希望人们也就是 you 能像对待这个小男孩一样去帮助叙利亚饱受饥寒的儿童，故 D 项正确。

【解题导语】本文是一篇说明文。加利福尼亚的新动物福利保护法规定生产商对于商用养殖动物给予更多的人文关怀—提供充足的生存空间。此举激起各大生产商的激烈反应，除一些支持派外，其他公司一直在对新法做抗争。

28. B 考查细节理解。由第二段“The law began going into effect last year, requiring hens and veal calves to be given more space to live in.”“the law will require that all eggs sold in California come from cage-free hens and that pork sold in the state come from breeding pigs that are not held in cramped cages.”可知，新动物福利法要求圈养母鸡和肉用小猪需给予更多的空间，不能让它们活动受限。故 B 项正确。

Z20 名校联盟（浙江省名校新高考研究联盟）2023 届高三第一次联考 英语参考答案

29. C 考查词义推断。由第三段“but others have spent the last few years fighting the law rather than figuring out how to put it into practice.”可知，其他生产商过去几年都在抗议新动物福利法，but表示转折，说明“Some big companies like Hormel Foods have pledged to do so fully,”一些大公司是愿意去按新法的规定去做的，所以 pledged的意思是承诺。故C项正确。
30. B 考查细节理解。由第三段“Pork producers have had the longest time to comply.”猪肉生产商需要很长的时间去遵守这个新的动物福利法，“Some big companies like Hormel Foods have pledged to do so fully, but others have spent the last few years fighting the law rather than figuring out how to implement it.”大的生产商承诺去做，其他生产商过去几年都在抗议新法。故B项正确。
31. D 考查推理判断。由第二段“These are humane steps designed to lift these animals out of structures that barely allow them to move.”第三段“So far, that fight has been a waste of time that pork producers could have better spent figuring out how to reconfigure their farms.”以及最后一段“It’s a price the animals shouldn’t have to pay.”可知，作者认为新法规定商业养殖动物需给予更多的活动空间是非常人性化的关怀与做法，进而带来的猪肉价格成本上涨也是人类应付出的代价。猪肉生产商对新法的抵制毫无意义浪费时间。所以作者对新法非常支持。故D项正确。

【解题导语】科学家们新发现玩智力游戏在一定程度上可以使人脑更加敏捷，但其中机制还有待研究。相比于完全依赖智力游戏，专家推荐需要将运动、睡眠、饮食、智力游戏结合起来形成一整套锻炼大脑的策略。

32. A 考查事实细节。第一段作者分享了一家商店老板执着于智力游戏的故事，通过老板的自述“智力游戏使他的大脑更加敏捷、更加专注”引出全文主题，即玩智力游戏在一定程度上可以使人脑更加敏捷。故A项正确。
33. C 考查事实细节。根据第三段首句可得知，智力游戏如何提高记忆力和认知功能仍然是个谜，故选C。由第三段最后一句可知A、B均错误。由第四段可知，Gary Small更推荐体育运动，两者并不是同等重要。故C项正确。
34. D 考查推理判断。从 good sleep and healthy diet 所在的这一句和专家所述的下一句“Brain games work best as part of a whole package of brain-healthy strategies”可得知，光玩智力游戏并不是上上策，最好的策略是将运动、睡眠、饮食、智力游戏整合起来。故D项正确。
35. C 考查主旨大意。文章第一段通过故事引入，第二段讲述了智力游戏有助于提升智商，第三段讲述智力游戏大概如何对智商提升有益，最后一段讲相比于完全依赖智力游戏，专家推荐需要将运动、睡眠、饮食、智力游戏结合起来形成一整套锻炼大脑的策略。结合全文，文章主要内容是智力游戏对于记忆力和认知能力的作用。故C项正确。

第二节：读后续写（满分 25 分）

When I arrived at the station, I went direct into the audition and began my short performance. With boldness, I finished my performance relatively smoothly though palms were sweating. Never in my wildest dream did I imagine that I was indeed assigned the intern job to act on a school life show and my first public appearance on TV was in five days. After sharing the thrilling news with my dad, I received the warmest congratulations and expectations from my family. Picturing my families eagerly waiting for my performance, I worked day and night as busy as a bee for fear that I would make a fool of myself live on TV.

Finally came the day of my first public appearance on live TV with my parents at home watching. Wearing fancy dress and delicate make up, I was so proud but nervous that my show would be watched by so many audience. My mind suddenly went blank as I was immersed in my thoughts and totally forgot my lines. Deep frowns gradually climbed on my partners' face, with whose sudden vigorous pull, I was driven back to the reality. I soon came up with a little trick to make up for the embarrassing blank. As the show went on, so concentrated was I that I hardly dared to even blink my eyes. After my debut, I rang my dad with frustration and disappointment, only to reap his trust and encouragement again. It was literally dad's love that supported me along my way to be an outstanding actor.

W: You wrote your name as Andy today. I thought your name was James.

M: James is my first name, but everyone calls me by my middle name. (1) Sometimes, my friends even call me Lee, which is my last name.

Text 2

W: Your sister Gina is sleeping. Don't wake her up, Simon!

M: But Mom! I want someone to play with me!

W: Wait a minute while I help Daddy get ready for work. Then you and I will hang out together outside. (2)

Text 3

M: Do you like it here?

W: It's perfect! It reminds me a little of my parents' home, and a little of that holiday house we rented in Spain. Both places are very special to me.

M: Then let's move in right away! (3)

Text 4

M: I'll be back home in a couple of hours. I've just finished a meeting with one of our buyers, and I'm on my way to the office now. (4)

W: Great. Can you pick up some vegetables on your way home? I need them to cook supper.

Text 5

W: National Bank. Can I help you?

M: Yes, please. What are your business hours?

W: We open at 9:00 a.m. and close at 4:00 p.m. during the week. On Saturdays, we close one hour earlier than usual, (5) and we are closed on Sundays.

Text 6

W: Class, whose parent is coming to speak this week for Family Fridays? (6) Is it your father, Mark? (7)

M: Yes, he's flying home tonight. He'll come with me to school tomorrow. (6)

W: Very good. Where is he flying from?

M: Well, my father is a singer. He performs in different countries. This week, he had shows in Singapore.

W: I've heard some of his songs. The words are very thoughtful. And his voice is beautiful.

M: Thank you. He's more popular with people his age than with my generation. He sings in a more traditional style. But my brothers and I have always liked his music.

W: Well, we look forward to meeting your father. Maybe he will sing something for us. (7)

M: Definitely!

Text 7

W: Todd, did you really agree to be a foreign language teacher for a second year? (8)

M: Why not? Don't you like trying different things? (8) The school and the children will be different! And this year, I will be teaching near the beach. I might be able to go fishing every day! It won't take me long to get used to life there.

W: You're going to be paid by two schools, right? (9)

M: That's right. (9) But I decided to be a foreign language teacher again without hesitation because I like trying new things. (8) I'm also pretty popular everywhere I apply.

W: I'll bet. But my opinion is different from yours. I miss my parents. You know the saying: "East or west, home is best." I feel most relaxed in my hometown.

M: I think most people's views are similar to yours.

Text 8

M: Take a seat, please. Well, could you tell me your name and a little about yourself?

W: Crystal Bush. I am 23. I've been working abroad, and I'd like to work closer to home in the new year.

M: I see...I have read your application. You've been working in Japan for three years?

W: Well, I am a secretary in a big clothing company there. Previously, I was at a university.

M: You mean you worked at a university?

W: Right. I taught Japanese in a university, but I realized that job was pretty boring.

M: Do you have any special reasons for wanting to come back from Japan? (10)

W: I thought it would be nice to be near my family. And you know, ever since the earthquake, it has been difficult for anyone to get a satisfactory job. (10)

M: I see. How do you see your career development at this company?

W: Well, I'm ambitious. I hope that my career as a secretary will eventually lead me into management.

(11)

M: Sounds great. I will give you a call as soon as I look over your application one more time. (12)

Text 9 (第14题为总结题) (第15、16题为推断题)

M: So many impressive things are happening right now in our country. China is right at the top of so many brilliant ideas and talented designs. From smartphones to bridges, it's a great time for us. Our business is a part of this amazing growth. We're attracting talent from at home and abroad. We're getting some of the best people in here, and it shows. Good job, team!

W: But Mr. Sung, we're just a small company. In fact, we only have one foreign employee, and it's our front desk attendant Kanda from Thailand. (13)

M: You're right about that, Ms. Zhu. But I've just hired two more people to join our team — one from England, and one from Russia.

W: Is that a good idea, Mr. Sung?

M: These are two very professional people, and they're very good at what they do. I've also hired a new security guard...

W: Just in time!

M: Now, now, Ms. Zhu. We all know you have a great sense of humor, but I'm trying to have a serious discussion with you about the great future of our company!
