My Biggest Challenge in Senior High

As a high school student, I came across a lot of challenges, one of which impressed me most.

It was when I started my high school life that I found it hard to get along with my new classmates. I felt very anxious about it. However, I didn't let it be. I turned to my head teacher for help. He gave me some valuable advice. I started to take part in various school activities, in which I came to build up my confidence in communicating with my classmates. Gradually, I made some friends and became popular among them, which made me happy again.

I learned from the experience that whatever difficulties we meet, we should try our best to solve them. Only in this way can we have a better life.
