阅读下列短文,从每题所给的A、B、C和D四个选项中,选出最佳选项,并在答题卡上将该项涂黑。

A

Here are the books that often appear on high-school reading lists for 12th-grade students, and are often discussed in greater depth in college literature courses. The books on this list are important introductions to world literature.

The Seagull

By Anton Chekhov

Price: $ 40.4

【B-024】英语试卷 第2页(共8页)

The book is a scene-of-life read set in the Russian countryside at the end of the 19th century. All characters are dissatisfied with their lives. Some want love. Some want success. No one, however, ever seems to get happiness. Some people view The Seagull as a tragic(悲剧的) play about always unhappy people. Others see it as a humorous and bitter book, making fun of humans' foolishness.

Candide

By Voltaire

Price: $ 48.6

Voltaire offers his view of society in Candide. The book was published in 1759, and it is often considered the author's most important work. A simple-minded young man, Candide is sure his world is the best of all worlds, but a trip around the world opens his eyes about what he believes to be true.

Jane Eyre

By Charlotte Bronte

Price: $ 128.6

Charlotte Bronte's heroine was one of the first in English literature to serve as first-person narrator(讲述者) of her own life story. Jane finds love with a rich man, Rochester, but on her own terms, and only after he has proven himself worthy of her.

The Bluest Eye

By Toni Morrison

Price: $ 28.6

Toni Morrison's story of Pecola Breedlove, a young African American girl who dreams of having blue eyes — a sign of acceptance in a world ruled by white conceptions(概念) of beauty.

21. What is special about The Seagull?

- A. People's ideas to it are quite different. B. Characters in it are happy with their life.
C. All characters make their dream true finally. D. It tells the life in America in the early 1960s.

22. What changes Candide's idea about a wonderful world?

- A. A bad luck he meets in life. B. A book he read accidentally.
C. A journey around the world. D. A dream he makes at night.

23. Which would you choose if you want to read a girl dreaming of becoming beautiful?

- A. The Seagull. B. Candide. C. Jane Eyre. D. The Bluest Eye.

On December 23, 2022, Alexander and Andrea Campagna answered a hurried knock at their door. Their home near Buffalo, New York, was struck by a deadly snowstorm, and a group of nine South Korean tourists (and their driver) were trapped. The Campagnas welcomed them in and hosted them for a weekend. What followed was a heartwarming story of sympathy and hospitality. By the end of their time with their guests, Alexander and Andrea planned on visiting South Korea. This wasn't an empty promise, either; the couple recently reunited with their friends in their home country.

Alexander and Andrea boarded a ship on a 10-day all-expenses-paid tour of Seoul as guests of the Korea Tourism Organization. It was a reward for the Buffalo couple's kindness and an opportunity to promote travel to the country. The visit included a series of Korean culture as well as its natural beauty. The Campagnas went to the 14th-century Gyeongbokgung Palace, walked through Gwanghwamun Square, and generally received the star treatment. They dined at Michelin-recommended restaurants and went on private tours. This also included a mountain hike and a visit to the Demilitarized Zone.

【B-024】英语试卷 第3页(共8页)

The wonderful trip was made complete with a reunion with six of the nine tourists who had come to their door five months earlier. They shared a four-course meal at a restaurant in a traditional Korean house overlooking the grand Changdeokgung Palace. There were happy tears; but most of all, there was gratitude. Everyone felt like the chance meeting was fate(命运).

“To see everyone in Korea again is such a blessing,” Andrea told reporters in Seoul. “We’ve always had an appreciation and interest in Korea. They ended up in the right place at the right time. Now we have people we can call friends for a lifetime.”

24. What does the author intend to tell us in paragraph 1?
- A. The weather conditions in Buffalo, New York.
B. South Korean tourists’ desire to visit New York.
C. An incident before the Campagnas made their plan.
D. A promise made by Alexander and Andrea Campagna.
25. During their stay in Seoul the Campagnas _____.
- A. were well treated wherever they went
B. spent much money on the sightseeing
C. travelled little but rested much at hotels
D. stayed with the nine South Korean tourists
26. What’s the common feeling about the nine tourists and the Campagnas?
- A. Concerned. B. Grateful. C. Anxious. D. Tolerant.
27. Which of the following can best agree with the story?
- A. A friend in need is a friend indeed. B. God helps those who help themselves.
C. Where there is a will there is a way. D. One good turn deserves another.

C

Body language is an essential part of communication and can be just as important as our spoken language exchanges. Body language can be both conscious or unconscious actions, so it is important to make sure your body is sending the same messages as your words to ensure good communication. These actions can strengthen the verbal(口头的) messages you’re sending or it can lead to mistrust or confusion — signs of poor communication and misunderstanding.

Body language can make interacting with others and expressing yourself much easier, but it can also introduce new challenges. Some nonverbal signs unintentionally communicate parts of ourselves that we don’t want others to know. For example, bad posture or fidgeting(坐立不安) may communicate lack of confidence, something we may not intend for others to know about us. But body language can strengthen our verbal messages and solidify what we are telling others. Facing someone with eye contact or taking notes while someone is speaking can communicate genuine interest. Without these signs, teachers may not be able to assess a student’s understanding.

When you’re speaking sincerely, it’s natural for your body language to respond to your words through gestures or facial expressions. We also use gestures in conversations to tell stories or describe objects, often using hand signals to show how big or small something is. These are largely unconscious, naturally occurring forms of body language.

It can be difficult to communicate confidence in your actions when you may not feel it internally. When you display confident body language, such as good posture or eye-contact, even if you’re making a conscious effort, studies have shown that it can lead to feeling more confident. When speaking to others, practice controlling impulses to fidget and planting your feet confidently to increase self-esteem.

28. What would your body language tell if it can’t go with your speech?
- A. A probable disbelief. B. True meaning behind words.
C. An unclear condition. D. A dull speech.

【B-024】英语试卷 第4页(共8页)

29. Why does the author give some examples in paragraph 2?
- A. To show body language can help us all the time.
 - B. To tell body language can show the true side of us.
 - C. To explain how challenging it is to read body language.
 - D. To tell teachers how to assess a student's understanding.
30. What does the author intend to tell in the last two paragraphs?
- A. Hand signals are essential ways to make ourselves understood.
 - B. Naturally occurring forms of body language makes us confident.
 - C. Proper body language can help us a lot in gaining confidence.
 - D. When speaking to others, try your best to hide your body language.
31. What can be a suitable title for the text?
- A. Knowing Your Friends with Body Language
 - B. Understanding Others by Body Language
 - C. Being Smart in Showing Your Body Language
 - D. Helping Communicate with Body Language

D

Who first proposed the holiday for workers? It's not entirely clear, but two workers can make a solid claim to the Founder of Labor Day title.

Some records show that in 1882, Peter J. McGuire, general secretary of the Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners and a co-founder of the American Federation of Labor, suggested setting aside a day for a "general holiday for the laboring classes". But many believe that machinist Matthew Maguire, not Peter McGuire, founded the holiday.

The first Labor Day holiday was celebrated on Tuesday, September 5, 1882, in New York City, in accordance with the plans of the Central Labor Union. The Central Labor Union held its second Labor Day holiday just a year later, on September 5, 1883. By 1894, 23 more states had adopted the holiday, and on June 28, 1894, President Grover Cleveland signed a law making the first Monday in September of each year a national holiday.

Many Americans celebrate Labor Day with parades(游行), picnics and parties — festivities very similar to those outlined by the first proposal for a holiday, which suggested that the day should be observed with a street parade to exhibit "the strength and spirits of the trade and labor organizations" of the community, followed by a festival for the recreation and amusement of the workers and their families. This became the pattern for the celebrations of Labor Day.

Speeches by important official men and women were introduced later, as more emphasis was placed upon the economic and civil significance of the holiday. Still later, by a resolution of the American Federation of Labor convention of 1909, the Sunday before Labor Day was adopted as Labor Sunday and dedicated to(致力于) the spiritual and educational aspects of the labor movement.

American labor has raised the nation's standard of living and contributed to the greatest production the world has ever known and the labor movement has brought us closer to the realization of our traditional ideals of economic and political democracy.

32. What can we know from paragraph 2?
- A. People's views about the founder of Labor Day vary.
 - B. The author considered Matthew Maguire the founder.
 - C. Peter J. McGuire wanted to set a few days for a holiday.
 - D. Labor Day was originally set up for American machinists.

【B-024】英语试卷 第5页(共8页)

33. What does paragraph 3 mainly tell us?
A. The real meaning of Labor Day. B. The development of Labor Day.
C. The reason of setting Labor Day. D. People's emphasis on Labor Day.
34. What does the underlined word "festivities" in paragraph 4 mean?
A. Manners. B. Approaches. C. Rewards. D. Celebrations.
35. Which of the following does the author agree with?
A. It is known that America develops very fast. B. The original meaning of Labor Day changes.
C. It is worthwhile to set a day for the laborer. D. The labor movement makes the life unsteady.

第二节 (共5小题;每小题2.5分,满分12.5分)

根据短文内容,从短文后的选项中选出能填入空白处的最佳选项。选项中有两项为多余选项。

Basic first aid allows you to quickly determine a person's physical condition and the correct course of treatment. 36 But following correct first aid procedures can be the difference between life and death.

37 Evaluate the situation. Are there things that might put you at risk of harm? Are you or the victim threatened by fire, gasses, an unstable building, live electrical wires, or another dangerous conditions? Do not rush into a situation where you could end up as a victim yourself. This refers to the D (Danger) in DRABC (Danger, Response, Airways, Breathing, and Circulation(血液循环)).

Call for help. 38 If someone is with you or approaches, instruct them to call the authorities and be prepared to relay information to them so they can update the responders. It is not recommended that you leave the victim unless required, but put them in the recovery position if you need to leave them for any reason.

Care for the person. Caring for someone who has just gone through serious hurts includes both physical treatment and emotional support. Remember to stay calm and try to put him at ease. Let the person know that help is on its way and that everything will be alright. 39

Stop the bleeding first. After you have established that the victim is breathing and has a pulse, your next priority should be to control any bleeding. 40 Use direct pressure on a wound before trying any other method of managing to bleed.

- A. Check the surroundings.
- B. Provide first aid for a broken bone.
- C. Do so before you begin assisting the victim.
- D. You should always seek professional medical help as soon as you are able to.
- E. Other ways to comfort the victim include asking for their name, or their interests.
- F. Control of bleeding is one of the most important things you can do to save a victim.
- G. Anyone who has suffered a severe injury or life-threatening situation is at risk for shock.

第二节 读后续写(满分 25 分)

阅读下面材料,根据其内容和所给段落开头语续写两段,使之构成一篇完整的短文。

“Daddy, I have something to tell you. I wanted to ask your permission to go to America.” I didn’t finish my speech as he shouted, “No!” “But why? What...”, I replied. “If this all is about money, then you may not worry, I got a scholarship...”

I didn’t know what to do. I felt a warm tear running down my cheek. I thought there would be no problem because he always knew how much I dreamt about studying abroad. I was so angry and said: “But why do I have to ask your permission? I am already 18 and I’m not a kid anymore. You can’t tell me what is right and what is wrong.”

I shut the door so hard that it staggered. I was so disappointed that all these years he couldn’t see what I was doing. The tears were flowing on their own. I realized how much my love for dad was, however, I just could not stay at my hometown anymore.

I left home and my eyes were full of anger and tears. I didn’t know what to do and what to expect, but I decided to go far away from home and start creating my dream life. I took a bus and went to the airport.

I closed my eyes and felt that something was wrong. Everything was so silent when suddenly I heard my phone ringing. It was a nurse from the local hospital:

“Hello! Are you the daughter of Kuat?”, she asked. “Your dad has had a heart attack and he’s in a coma now. The situation’s serious. We want you...”

I wasn’t listening to her anymore. Tears were flowing and I started to choke when all of a sudden I heard a man’s voice and opened my eyes. I realized that it was a nightmare.

注意:1. 续写词数应为 150 左右;

2. 请按如下格式在答题卡的相应位置作答。

I started searching for my phone and wanted to hear my dad’s voice. _____

“Here you are, my sweetie. I’m not letting you leave because I don’t want you to forget me. _____
