第三部分 书面表达（共两节，32分）

第一节（共4小题；第40、41题各2分，第42题3分，第43题5分，共12分）

40. Table manners are the way people behave while eating a meal.

41. Because table manners can reflect people's character, such as being respectful and considerate to others, and they can also lead people to social success.

42.

➤ Tony Tan says that it is impolite for younger generations to start eating before the elders do even after they get permission from the elders.

According to the passage, if their elders say 'Go ahead', younger generations can start eating before the elders do. So it is acceptable for them to start eating with the permission from the elderly.

43. 略

第二节 (20 分)

Possible version

Dear Sir/Madam,

I am writing to apply to be a school ambassador for the “Low Carbon Life” activity.

In my opinion, the low carbon lifestyle, aiming to achieve carbon neutrality, can contribute to the sustainable development of our earth. I think every individual should raise the awareness of environmental protection and live a green life by saving water, electricity and sorting waste.

I think I am qualified for this position. As president of the Students’ Union, I am thought highly of by my teachers and classmates for communication skills and work efficiency. Besides, I practice what I advocate, like refusing to use disposable chopsticks, which shows my better understanding of the low carbon life.

I would appreciate it if you could give me an opportunity. Looking forward to your reply.

Yours,

Li Hua
