M: What is your favorite music? I like country music best.

W: Well, I like all kinds of music, whether it is rock and roll or blues.

M: I'm a bit starving. There is a food cart over there. Do you want something to eat? We won't have dinner until about 7:00 p. m.

M: The men's team didn't do so well and only got a bronze medal. But the women's team won the silver medal.

W: I was busy preparing for my math competition, but I saw the opening ceremony. Have you planned anything special for this summer vacation? I decide to learn how to swim.

M: I'm going to practice swimming next Monday too. Let's go together. Oh, I nearly forgot it. I have a basketball game in the park this weekend. Why don't you come and watch me play?

Hello, everyone. In today's program, we'll get to know the characteristics of some states in the United States. Florida has a lot of amusement parks and resorts. The sunshine state is also known for its oranges. So whatever you eat for breakfast, there will be a tall glass of delicious orange juice. Having the country's highest population of Cuban Americans, Florida features in Latin American cuisine. If Disney World is out of your price range, you can still get an excellent meal in Florida. Anyone looking to eat healthily on their next vacation should consider the beaver state—Oregon. Oregon has gained a hearty reputation for its organic food. It serves up fresh fruits and vegetables. Of all the produce, the pear should be at the top of your list. It's the state's official and best-selling tree fruit. It produces nearly 800 million pears yearly. Oregon's food isn't just varied but also perfect for eating on the go. You can enjoy a plentiful meal while exploring the state's natural wonders. In next edition, we'll talk about the yellow hammer state—Alabama, and the potato state—Idaho.

应用文参考范文:

Dear students,

With the reading month approaching, I'm here to appeal to all of you to do more reading.

As is known to us all, reading plays an essential part in our daily life. First of all, it can enrich our minds and teach us to distinguish between right and wrong, laying a solid foundation for further learning. Furthermore, reading can broaden our horizons and perfect ourselves.

I have just read a good book titled The Old Man and the Sea, in which I have not only appreciated the beauty of English, but also I have learnt to face difficulties in life bravely like the hero. I strongly recommend you to read it.

Let's get down to reading the novel. I am firmly convinced that you can be deeply impressed and inspired a lot.

读后续写参考范文:

Hearing this, I turned to my uncle, "I think we can plant trees too." Grabbing the camera in my hand, I added with excitement, "I've got a plan! I'll show them the photos of Kabir's magical forest!" Seeing Uncle and Kabir's encouraging smile, I immediately set down to work, busy pressing my shutter (快门). When Uncle and I went back to the village and showed these wonderful pictures to my neighbors, they were stunned by the beauty of the forest. "It was the trees that turned the place into a paradise!" We then explained our tree-planting plan to the villagers, which was quickly accepted by all of them.

In the years that followed, people in our village worked hard to carry out our plan. Instead of cutting down our forest, we started to plant trees, which has eventually helped protect the soil and stopped the land from eroding. Thanks to the trees, the water has been purified and we finally have clean and stable water supply. With our joint efforts, our village is now surrounded by small thriving forests with blooming flowers, lively animals and crystal-clear streams running through. Witnessing the gradual change of our village, we've come to realize that only when we live in harmony with nature can we have a brighter future.
