M: Hello. International Friends Club. Can I help you?

W: Oh, hello. I read about your club in the paper today and I thought I'd phone to find out a bit more.

M: Yes, certainly. Well, we are a sort of social club for people from different countries. It's quite a new club—we have about 50 members at the moment, but we are growing all the time.

W: That sounds interesting. I'm British actually, and I came to Washington about three months ago. I'm looking for ways to meet people. Er, what kinds of events do you organize?

M: Well, we have social get-togethers, and sports events, and we also have language evenings.

W: Could you tell me something about the language evenings?

M: Yes. Every day except Thursday we have a language evening. People can come and practice their languages—you know, over a drink or something. We have different languages on different evenings. Monday—Spanish; Tuesday—Italian; Wednesday—German; and Friday—French. On Thursday we usually have a meal in a restaurant for anyone who wants to come.

W: Well, that sounds great. I really need to practice my French.

M: OK. Well, if you can just give me your name and address, I'll send you the form and some more information. If you join now, you can have the first month free.

It can hold six people at a time. Two of them will be workers. They may be former NASA astronauts. Each trip aboard the station will last for 12 days. Guests there will be able to do many interesting things. For example, they will see around 16 sunrises and sunsets every 24 hours. They can take part in research experiments such as growing food in space. Later, they can bring the food back to the Earth. These are the same things as astronauts usually do. Guests can also share what they see and hear with others on the Earth. They can have a video chat using a high-speed Internet connection. But each guest will have to pay at least $9.5 million. That's really a large amount of money.

Dear John,

I'm Li Hua, the director of the English Club in our school. Exceptionally impressed by your illuminating insight into the English language, I'm writing to invite you to deliver a speech about it.

The speech, especially designed for our school senior students, is scheduled in the hall from 4:00 pm to 5:00 pm, next Friday. To acquaint students with a general knowledge of English culture and promote their English learning, you are expected to talk about the customs and history of English-speaking countries and some ways of learning English. Time permitting, it would be better to answer some relevant questions raised by the students.

All of us are greatly anticipating your presence. Looking forward to your reply.

Yours sincerely,

Li Hua

参考范文:

In honor of the "You've Got Mail" initiative, Catherine and her mother hosted a card-making party. In the party, she met a group of her good friends, who offered her a large number of cards. She also ran into a company's manager, who donated many bags and accessories to her. Besides, among the participants were some famous media that sang high praise for Catherine's kind deeds, calling on the world to follow suit. They made the cards together. Catherine said to her followers with sincerity, "I'll continue to distribute the cards and bags to the homeless on the street and at local shelters."

Catherine hoped her project would remind others to make a difference in someone's life. She appealed to the world to care for the poor, and meanwhile urged the poor to speak up for themselves. Up till now, she has conducted interviews with some of them and put together a video to be on air in society. She listened to their stories, learning about their health conditions, their families and their dreams. In her opinion, simply because you only pass them on the street, you know nothing about them. So the biggest thing is just to listen because everybody has a story, from which you can find out how to help.
