One possible version:

Dear Chris,

In your letter you said you're troubled about not knowing what hobby to choose. I am writing to give my advice.

It's common to feel like you don't have any hobbies. A hobby, in fact, is an activity one enjoys in his / her spare time. So instead of feeling pressure, you can simply ask yourself what you enjoy doing or get pleasure from. It may be traveling, gardening or just singing.

In conclusion, it's all about doing things that make you happy. Hope you find your hobby soon and enjoy it.

Yours sincerely,

Li Hua

One possible version:

Jack started lowering the kite fast. At first, the kite was on a level with the butterfly. Kids held their breath. Jack, sweaty and worried, picked up speed to make the kite lower.

After a few seconds, the kite came down below the butterfly and the butterfly landed on the kite. Gently, very gently, Jack brought the kite to the ground in the hope that the butterfly would be safe on the kite.

Jack got down on his knees and looked at the butterfly sitting on the kite. He thought the butterfly was looking at him too. Jack waited patiently, hoping that the butterfly would regain strength. A few minutes passed. The butterfly spread its wings little by little and flew up again. All the kids were very happy to see this. The butterfly flew in a wide circle and headed back to where Jack was standing. It flew around Jack, then gained height and flew away as Jack waved goodbye.
