Dear Sir/ Madam.

I am writing to apply to be a volunteer for the upcoming campus drama festival, with the aim of helping our exchange students understand Chinese culture better.

I believe I have the necessary skills and qualities to contribute to the success of this event. Firstly, I am a fluent English speaker and have excellent communication skills, which will assist our exchange students in overcoming any language barriers they may encounter. Additionally, having a deep understanding of Chinese culture, I can explain the background and significance of the performances to the exchange students, helping them to connect with the local culture. Better still, I have extensive experience in voluntary work.

Should I be given the chance, I would strive to ensure the smooth running of the festival. Thank you for considering my application.

Yours

Li Hua

读后续写: When I was wondering how to protect my son, a scream erupted behind me. It was from Portia. She flew from the porch in a blur of brown and black stripes, landing between the dog and child. Compared to the fully grown dog, Portia was tiny, but her outrage compensated for that. Every hair on her body was raised. Her back was arched and sharp teeth were revealed. She screamed again, claws extended as one paw exploded outward and struck the dog's nose. She took a step back. Once more she closed the gap, claws ready to slice. The dog was a bit frightened and retreated. Hissing and striking, she successfully drove the Retriever out of the yard.

After a while the owner arrived, out of breath. Seeing my son was safe and sound, he was relieved. A bit embarrassed, he apologized to me earnestly while taking hold of his pet's collar before returning home. Portia watched with dismissive eyes until they rounded the corner and disappeared. I stroked her with affection and gratitude for her heroic act. She was definitely a good guardian and beyond compare. Also, her certainty toward us and the way she became a part of our family encouraged me to feel as if there was a kind of destiny to this encounter.

M: I think the most useful skills are finding water and making a shelter. Without them, you couldn't survive.

W: I'd put making a fire above them, because you should use it to boil water so that it's safe to drink.

(Text 2)

W: Tony, can you help me with those bags?

M: Sure. I'm surprised you didn't just have these delivered.

W: Normally I do, but the driver for the supermarket is off today. Carrying these bags up all those stairs would be hard at my age.

(Text 3)

M: Oh. Hi Cindy. Was my music too loud? I can turn it down.

W: Oh, no. I just came over to ask if you have a hammer I can borrow.

M: A hammer?

W: Yeah, my brother got me a beautiful painting and I want to hang it on my wall.

(Text 4)

W: When will we go to the park?

M: The wildlife program will be over soon. I just want to see the end of it. Then, we can go.

W: Shall I phone Mum now to say we'll be there in 30 minutes?

M: Yes. And please ask her to buy today's newspaper for me.

(Text 5)

W: Do you see anything here that we can get to take to Jason and Alison's wedding?

M: Not really. Can't we just bring them some flowers?

W: No. Flowers aren't right for a wedding. How about this teapot?

M: Yeah, that looks nice.

(Text 6)

W: Did you hear about a woman named Judy who will have to spend a month in prison because her pet is too overweight?

M: What? No!

W: Yeah, her pot-bellied pig weighs 200 pounds. Most weigh between 65 and 100 pounds. It's unhealthy for the poor animal to be that big, and it has trouble walking.

M: So what happened?

W: Well, the police charged her. She also has to pay a $300 fine.

(Text 7)

M: Can I help you, madam?

W: Yes, I need a taxi to the airport tomorrow morning.

M: No problem. I can arrange that for you right now. What time is your flight?

W: At 9:30, so can the taxi come around 8 o'clock?

M: Actually you'll probably want the taxi to pick you up around 6:30.

W: 6:30? Are you sure?

M: Well, the airport is pretty far from here. And it will take you about half an hour to get through security. W: I guess you're right. Can you call me before the taxi comes tomorrow morning?

M: No problem. I'll schedule a wake-up call for 5:30.

(Text 8)

M: Excuse me, I'd like to exchange this watch. And here's my receipt. I just bought it a few weeks ago, but look at this!

W: What seems to be the problem?

M: It's the band. It's already broken.

W: Oh. Let me see if I can get you another one. I'm sorry. We are completely sold out of that style. They are really popular. I can order one for you. Or do you want to exchange it for a different watch.

M: Well, I really like this style.

W: Well, call me here tomorrow. By then, I'll know when I can get you a new one. Could you just fill out this form for me, please?

M: Okay. Thanks.

(Text 9)

W: Did you see our ad in the newspaper? M: Actually I ate here with a friend in your restaurant last week, and as we were leaving I saw the notice in your window.

W: As you know we're looking for servers, and do you have any kind of work experience related to waiting tables? Like serving experience? Or experience dealing with customers?

M: I once worked as a volunteer in a zoo for two months and dealt with different people.

W: So would you be able to start work right away if you were offered a job?

M: Not exactly. I could start at the beginning of next month. Is it a permanent position you're offering?

W: Yes. But one of the conditions is that there's a trial period.

M: How long is that for?

W: Half a month.

M: And what about weekends? Do servers get both days off?

W: I'm afraid weekends are our busiest time. If you take the job, you'll have to agree to work every Saturday and Sunday. Your days off would be Tuesday and Wednesday.

M: OK. And the pay?

W: It's $8.50 an hour now, though it may go up soon. And on top of your pay you get benefits—one free meal a day and we also provide free buses for all our staff to our restaurant.

Good morning. You've booked the trip to Gulum tomorrow, and I'd like to explain the arrangements for what will be a great day out.

We're meeting at eight o'clock in the morning as the bus will go at exactly quarter past eight. This is instead of the usual departure time of eight thirty. To get on the bus, please meet at the entrance to the hotel rather than at the reception desk, which gets quite crowded in the mornings.

Our first stop will be at a magnificent ruin just outside Gulum. It used to be a palace. I'm sure the guide mentioned it during the tour of the ancient theater, if you went on that yesterday. The atmosphere there's really special, as you'll see for yourselves. Afterwards we'll drive on to the Wakizi Restaurant on the Gulum River for lunch. In the afternoon, we'll stop at Gulum beach where there's a choice of activities to do. One option is to go diving. For those people who like volleyball, we're organizing a competition on the beach. Unfortunately, at this time of year, sailing isn't possible, due to the lack of wind.

We'll provide towels and umbrellas, but please don't forget the sunscreen as the temperatures are very high—you will need it even on a cloudy day!
