I enjoy learning English but can remember individual word easy. However, when it comes to and easily reading comprehension, it's really the challenge. Last weekend, I tried to read a storybook write in a written
English to improve my reading. At first, I refer to the dictionary every time I came across a new referred word, which I found it not very helpful. I often felt puzzling about what I had read. Then I tried to 或 which --but/yet puzzled finish a chapter completely with looking up the new words. What surprised me was \wedge I could

Dear Albert,

I hope this letter finds you well. Learning that you wonder whether a career planning course is needed for Chinese high school students, I'm writing to share with you my opinion on it.

I believe that introducing career planning courses in Chinese high schools is crucial. The society, as you know, is increasingly competitive now. It can't be better for our high school study and college major selection if we have a general plan and a top-level design for our future career in high school. It is highly recommended to invite university professors or career planners to guide students in career planning. Organizing students to participate in various social practice is also preferable, which helps to expose the students to the characteristics of all walks of life, and locate their employment directions.

Thank you for considering my opinion. I'm confident that the course will benefit students in their future endeavors.

Yours,

Li Hua

Text 1

W: Look! There's a man boating on that river. It is a beautiful scene that makes me want to take a picture.

M: Yes. I'm thinking about having a picnic by the river next time.

Text 2

M: You can sit in my seat, ma'am. I'll get off at the People's Hospital Station soon.

W: Okay. Thanks a lot.

Text 3

W: You are all wet. Where is your umbrella?

M: I left it in a taxi.

W: Well, go and have a hot bath in case you catch a cold.

M: OK.

Text 4

M: Mona, who was that man you were talking to? Your brother?

W: No. He's Andy. Our moms are schoolmates, so we've known each other since childhood.

M: I see.

Text 5

M: Why are you late again?

W: I got up late. It was already 7:30 a.m. when I left the house.

M: I don't buy your story. I called your mom, and she said you left home at 7:00 a.m.

Text 6

W: ⑥ Are you using Wi-Fi? I can't connect to it.

M: Yes. The right network is KMZ. Are you connecting to this one?

W: Yes. ⑥ I typed in the password, but it kept saying "Connection failed".

M: Let me have a look. ⑥ Oh, the third letter is "a", not "o". Well, now you can watch a video.

W: Thanks. I'm not going to watch a video. ⑦ I'll send the pictures I took to my mom and tell her I'm having a great time here.

Text 7

W: Hello. What can I do for you?

M: Hello. ⑧ I'd like a pair of jeans.

W: ⑧ What style do you need: slim, regular or relaxed?

M: ⑧ Just a regular pair.

W: OK. ⑨ Hmm, how about this one? The material feels very comfortable.

M: ⑨ It's the right length. But I forgot to tell you that I like blue pants, not black ones.

W: Got it. I guess you'll like this one.

M: Good. How much is it?

W: $50. It is sold at a discount. It's a good deal.

M: I think so. Here's the money. ⑩ Well, can you give me a pair of socks as a present?

W: Of course. Here's your receipt and present.

M: ⑪ A desert where people can't grow food?

W: ⑪ No. It is an area where access to affordable and nutritious food is limited. I read about it in a book.

M: I see.

W: ⑫ My uncle lives in such a place. He gets along well with people there, but the town is so remote that it brings much inconvenience to his life. Therefore, he plans to move to a big city and find a new job.

M: Sounds reasonable. I like eating all kinds of delicious foods. It's hard to imagine what would happen if I lived there. ⑬ Speaking of food, I'm going to buy my favorite hamburger and take it home.

W: OK. And I have to go to the post office. Bye.

Text 9

M: You look unhappy. What's wrong?

W: ⑭ I'm under a lot of pressure. The clients keep asking for changes, and they are even expecting the project to be finished ahead of schedule. My plan to visit my parents this weekend is going to fail.

M: That's bad. What should you do?

W: My boss will try to talk the clients into leaving the deadline unchanged, but I don't think she will succeed.

M: ⑮ Ever since you started this job, you've been getting more and more anxious. Maybe this job is not suitable for you. I recommend you find a satisfactory job that interests you. What do you think?

W: But it's so hard to find a job now. I just want to get some rest after this project.

M: ⑯ Well, if you ever need someone to talk to, please feel free to call me.

W: Thanks. I appreciate it.

Text 10

W: ⑰ Dorothy Pitman Hughes, the co-founder of Ms. Magazine, died at the age of 84 on December 1st, 2022 in Tampa, Florida, according to her longtime colleague and friend Gloria Steinem.

⑱ Hughes was born in Lumpkin, Georgia in 1938, and eventually moved to New York at the age of 19, where she began doing several jobs including as a house cleaner and a nightclub singer. ⑲ By the late 1960s, Hughes organized a daycare center, which got the attention of Gloria Steinem, the future co-founder of Ms. Magazine, who wrote an article about the business in New York Magazine. Ms. Magazine, initially created in the 1970s as a "sample insert in New York Magazine", soon became "a landmark institution in both women's rights and American journalism".

⑳ "I have been lucky to call Hughes a friend and lifelong colleague," Steinem said. "She encouraged me to speak in public, and we spent years traveling across the country. Her devotion to children's welfare, racial justice and economic liberation means that she left the world in a better place than she found it," she added.
